GAZA STRIP GETS NEW OCCUPANTS. Swedish Lt. Bengt Loriche of U.N. emergency force greets Israeli soldier on halftrack as the Palestine forces depart from Rafa in Gaza Strip, U.N. occupied area.

Dag Works On Plans To Retain Peace

Seeking Long-Range Measures To Avert Recurrence of Strife

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Faced by ominous signs of new trouble in the Middle East, Dag Hammarskjold today began work on long-range measures aimed at preventing a recurrence of Israeli-Egyptian conflict.

The problem was left in the secretary general's hands Friday night when the U.N. General Assembly adjourned its regular 11th session after hearing an official report that Israel had completed its withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and the Sharm El Sheikh area.

U. S. Pledges Support

The assembly adjourned subject to the call of its president.

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge pledged the full support of the Eisenhower administration for the secretary general's peace efforts.

One of the most pressing problems appeared to be that of trying to get agreement for U.N. forces to be stationed on both sides of the 1949 Palestine armistice line to prevent a renewal of raids across the border from Egypt and Israel.

Many delegations, including the United States, feel that such an arrangement is necessary to stabilize the border area. Although Israel has expressed firm opposition, Hammarskjold is expected to urge Premier David Ben-Gurion to reconsider.

The United States was represented as feeling that the days of the U.N. force may be numbered if it is stationed only on one side of the demarcation line.

Some countries already are talking about pulling their troop contingents out of the U. N. Emergency Force (UNEF), if Egypt asks the U.N. to withdraw from the Gaza Strip and the Sharm El Sheikh coastal area on the Gulf of Aqaba.

Another problem facing Hammarskjold is working out an agreement for the administration of the Gaza Strip which will replace the "initial" arrangement now in effect. In Hammarskjold's view, any administrative arrangement in Gaza must have the consent of Egypt.

Working Together

Under the present set-up, the U.N. Emergency Force and the U.N. agency for Arab refugees are working together in a temporary administration in the area. The population of the narrow coastal strip consists of 200,000 Palestinian Arab refugees and 100,000 nonrefugees.

Dispatches from Gaza reported demonstrators were demanding the return of Egyptian control to the Gaza Strip.

U.N. diplomats also indicated some concern over dispatches from Cairo quoting Egyptian officials as saying Israeli shipping would be barred from the Suez Canal when it is completely reopened.

Any ban on Israeli shipping could be expected to aggravate the relations between the two countries and complicate Hammarskjold's task.

Hammarskjold still must seek an agreement on how long U.N. forces may stay in the Sharm El Sheikh area. The only commitment he made to Israel before the withdrawal of Israeli forces was that the U.N. troops would not be pulled out without prior notice.

The United States and numerous other countries feel the U.N. forces should remain there until an agreement is reached guaranteeing free passage of Israeli vessels through the Gulf of Aqaba.

Wounded Seriously

'Walking Bomber' Shot in Montreal

MONTREAL (AP) — A weirdly masked young bomber — laden with enough dynamite to wreck a city block — was shot down by police Friday as he threatened to blow up a bank building.

"You may have me now," the wounded bandit told police, "but at 4:45 p.m. three places in the city are going to be blown to kingdom come."

There were no explosions at that hour but a key found on the youth led police to a time bomb overdue to go off at Montreal's Central Station.

Fearful that other bombs might have been planted in public buildings in the pattern of New York's Mad bomber scare, police searched Windsor Railroad Station and City Bus Terminal but found nothing.

The youth, identified by police as Andre Deblois, 25, a married man with an infant daughter, was shot through the neck and wounded seriously after he had held a gun on employes and patrons of a Toronto-Dominion Bank branch for 20 minutes.

Waving his gun, he had threatened to blow up the building with 39 sticks of dynamite fastened to his body and attached to a wire contraption on his head. The youth had a nylon stocking mask pulled over his face and was wearing a false nose, dummy glasses and a bathing cap.

Police said he carried enough dynamite to raze the bank building and damage all the others in the vicinity.

Police who ringed the bank building when the manager was able to sound an alarm, said they could see the man fingering the wire connected to the dynamite, and delayed their move.

Finally Constable Joseph Perron kicked in a window and fired the shot that felled the gunman.

"I figured it was the only possible way out," Perron said. "So I took careful aim, and let go. Thank God I hit him with the first shot."

City Continues Study of Bids On Sewer Jobs

Further investigation of contractors' bids on the Indiana Ave. and Forest Lawn Blvd. sanitary sewers indicates the construction costs will be close to the engineers' revised estimates, Safety-Service Director R. Guy Bigelow said today.

Friday he reported that, based on preliminary studies, the base bids were running about 18 per cent above the estimates.

While this is still true, consideration of contingency items contained in the estimates undoubtedly will cut this 18 per cent appreciably, he said.

Estimated Cost $482,500

C. R. Martin, project engineer for Floyd G. Browne and Associates, consulting engineers, said that revised estimates, including the contingency items, on construction costs of the Indiana Ave. and Forest Lawn Blvd. sewers totaled $482,500. Original estimates, contained in an interim report submitted some months ago totaled $547,000, including engineering fees as well as construction costs, he explained.

Preliminary studies by the consulting engineers indicate the low bid, including construction costs only, will be about $500,000.

He agreed with Mr. Bigelow that the base bids were some 18 per cent higher than the engineers' estimate, but explained that this will present no financing problem because consideration of the contingency items and various combinations of alternates apparently will make it possible for the costs to fall very close to the estimates.

To Be Finished Monday

Mr. Bigelow said that final tabulation of the bids will be completed Monday, the alternates will be reviewed and the lowest and best bid will be determined by Monday or Tuesday.

A total of six contractors submitted bids on all or portions of the project. Three sewer segments are to be built. They include trunk sewers on Indiana Ave. from the first alley west of Forest St. to Forest Lawn Blvd. and on Forest Lawn Blvd. from Indiana Ave. south to Mt. Vernon Ave. and a relief sewer on Forest Lawn Blvd. from Indiana Ave. north to E. Center St.

Four Youths Killed in Two Ohio Accidents

By The Associated Press

Twenty - year - old twin youths were killed by one collision on U. S. 20 near Geneva, and two Ohio University freshmen were killed in another collision on Ohio 3 in Medina County Friday night as heavy snows left northern Ohio highways slush-covered and slippery.

Twins Ronald H. and Donald H. Miller, formerly of Myersdale, Pa. were thrown from a car by the force of a collision one and a half miles west of Geneva in Ashtabula County. The two had been working recently in Geneva and were riding in a car driven by Robert C. Lindeman, 20, also formerly of Meyersdale, Pa., and now working in Geneva.

Lindeman's car, heading east on the slush-covered highway, was in collision with a westbound car driven by Pasquale Mauri, 46, of Ashtabula.

The Ohio University students were identified by the patrol as Ray Weschler, 19, and Nelson W. Morris, 18, both of Cleveland.

Resolution Approved

Ike Signs Bill Beginning New Middle East Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today signed the Middle East resolution declaring this country's readiness to fight if necessary to block any Communist aggression in that troubled area.

The President said in a statement that the proposal, which he recommended to Congress two months ago, marks "an important forward step in the development of friendly relations between the United States and the Middle East area."

It is, he said, a "further demonstration of the will of the American people to preserve peace and freedom in the world."

The Senate and House completed action on the resolution earlier this week, approving it by big margins.

The resolution declares a readiness to use U. S. forces, if necessary, to counter any open aggression by the Communists in the Middle East, provided a nation under attack asks such aid.

It also authorizes Eisenhower to spend up to 200 million dollars in available military-economic aid funds between now and July 1 in the area.

Ambassador James P. Richards plans to leave Tuesday at the head of a presidential mission to explain the American program. The Richards mission will make recommendations on military and economic assistance.

The President's signature today marks the end of a drive for a Middle East resolution on which Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles placed an "urgent" tag.

Sunken Tug To Be Removed

Egypt Starts Preliminary Work on Last Suez Block

AN ENTERPRISING PROJECT. Fleet Adm. William (Bull) Halsey, USN (Ret.) dons his five-star uniform again for another battle, but this time to save, not sink, a ship. He and some 1,400 other ex-crewmen are trying to raise some money to have their old ship, the carrier Enterurise (background) enshrined as a national monument. At present, the "Big E" is destined for the scrapyard in Bayonne, N. J.

Convoy of 8 Small Ships Passes Canal

Attention Is Turned To Way of Payment Of Tolls for Passage

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt has started preliminary work toward removal of the last major obstructions in the Suez Canal, but U.N. salvage authorities still awaited a go-ahead for the final clearance.

Egyptian engineers began operations on the 841-ton tug Edgar Bonnet, sunk midway in the 103-mile waterway near Ismailia during the British-French and Israeli invasion last fall. They said they had to remove explosives from the vessel before it could be raised.

Israel Ban Continues

When the both ships are removed, vessels up to 10,000 tons will be able to sail the entire length of the canal. But Egyptian officials have made it clear this does not apply to Israeli shipping, which was barred even before the October-November fighting. Egypt maintains it is still technically at war with Israel, despite the 1949 Palestine armistice.

Meanwhile, eight small vessels, all under 500 tons, transited the canal Friday. This was the first large movement of shipping since the waterway was blocked more than four months ago.

U.N. in Control

With the end apparently in view to physical barriers in the canal, the West squared off for negotiations with President Nasser over how the canal will be operated. The Egyptian President ordered the nationalization of the waterway last July 6 and Egypt set up its own Suez Canal Authority to direct its operation.

While the focus of world attention shifted back to the canal, Israeli forces turned over to the U.N. Emergency Force (UNEF) the Sharm el Sheikh area guarding the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba.

Egypt Rejects West Plan for Toll Payments

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Egypt rejected a western Big Three proposal for a neutral agency to collect Suez Canal tolls and split the proceeds with Egypt 50-50, information director Abdel Kader Hatem said today.

"The Egyptian government will not accept any such proposal because it violates Egypt's rights according to the 1888 convention on the Suez Canal," Hatem said in an interview.

The United States, Britain and France told U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold last month they favored payment of tolls to the World Bank or some other neutral international agency when the canal gets back in business.

NAMED BY WITNESS. Mayor Terry D. Schrunk of Portland, Ore., gestures as he talks with newsmen during recess in the special Senate probe of alleged racketeering in labor and industry. A Portland policeman testified he saw what appeared to be the transfer of a "package" from a gambling club operator to Schrunk, then sheriff. Woman at right is not identified.

Denies Getting Bribe

Portland's Mayor Will Take Lie Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mayor Terry D. Schrunk of Portland, Ore., faced a lie detector test, possibly today, on his denial that he accepted a $500 bribe to call off a gambling raid.

Robert F. Kennedy, counsel for the Senate committee probing alleged labor-industry racketeering, said he was trying to arrange the test.

Denies Charge

Schrunk, a Democrat, swore Friday he never accepted the bribe. He agreed to undergo the lie detector test.

Half a dozen other witnesses have told the committee of the alleged bribe of Schrunk in 1955 while he was sheriff of Multnomah County (Portland).

Committee Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) said it was apparent somebody had committed perjury. He said he was asking the Justice Department to investigate conflicts in testimony.

The committee is probing charges that high Teamsters Union officials combined with Portland racketeers and public officials to try to take over the city's vice profits.

The sessions are in recess until Tuesday.

Calls It 'Frame'

Schrunk claimed testimony against him was a "frame" which he said was engineered by Portland gambler James B. Elkins. According to Elkins' testimony, Teamsters Union officials tried to "muscle in" and control Portland vice. He said he went along with them until he suspected they were about to dump him.

Elkins has said that two Seattle gamblers — Thomas Maloney and Joseph McLaughlin — were sent into Portland to take over and expand vice operations. He said they were sent by Frank Brewster, Teamsters Union chief on the West Coast.

Maloney and McLaughlin were recalled as witnesses Friday and both again invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer questions on this score or on any connections with Brewster. They claimed their answers might incriminate them.

Say 35 Joints Operating

During Schrunk's testimony that he had tried, while sheriff, to clean out vice, Kennedy produced a list of 35 gambling or prostitution places he said committee investigators had found were operating "wide open."

Schrunk said he doubted so many illegal joints were operating, but promised that if it was so he would close them.

In Portland, Police Chief William Hilbruner called the list "an unfair appraisal" of the situation. He said arrests have been made in some of the places listed. The chief said none of them is "operating under protection." He added that "we are checking these places constantly."

Police Report Bodies Found By Mexicans

Authorities Awaiting Identification; May Be 2 Missing Americans

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — The unidentified bodies of a man and a woman were reported found today washed up on a remote beach north of this resort. It was believed likely they were those of Joseph Michel and Mrs. Edith Hallock of New York.

Mrs. Hallock, a widow, and her traveling companion, Michel, disappeared Feb. 20.

No Communications

There are no telegraphic or telephone communications with the place where the bodies were reported found and roads are poor. Word of the discovery was brought to police here by a traveler.

Police said they understood the bodies had been washed ashore four or five days ago.

Michel, 59, and Mrs. Hallock, 42, left the Hotel Hamacas the night of Feb. 20 to visit a night club on Roqueta Island, a few miles offshore. They never returned.

Their rooms remained unoccupied for several days before the hotel management notified authorities.

Gonzalo Gonzalez, chief of the Acapulco judicial police, said Wednesday he feared Michel and Mrs. Hallock were the victims of a perfect double crime.

Michel had reservations for return to New York March 1.

Luggage in Rooms

Gonzalez said the fact both Michel's and Mrs. Hallock's luggage had been left in their rooms indicated they had not planned to stay away from Acapulco for any length of time. Mrs. Hallock left an unfinished letter to a friend in her room.

Mrs. Hallock's sister told police four diamond pieces were missing from Mrs. Hallock's deposit box in New York. It was suggested she may have had the jewelry with her in her purse when she disappeared. The fact the jewelry was not found with baggage and travelers checks left in the missing woman's room strengthened a belief she and Michel might have been slain by robbers.

Circleville To Hold Poll On Fast Time Sentiment

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The Circleville Chamber of Commerce will poll local merchants to determine if the city will go on Daylight Saving Time.

A spokesman for the chamber said the city's decision would be contingent on Columbus' approval of fast time. Columbus voters will decide in the May 7 primary whether to place the Ohio capital on fast time.

Acrid Smoke Pours Out of Burning Plant

Fertilizer Catches Fire At South Point, Ohio; Big Area Endangered

SOUTH POINT, Ohio (AP)—Chemists studied vapors from a burning pile of mixed fertilizer today to measure the threat to thousands of people living in and near this Ohio River community.

A preliminary report said that the "toxic qualities" of the widespread fumes were "not extreme except in long exposure."

Clouds of Smoke Pour Out

Some 45,000 tons of mixed fertilizer is smoldering in a huge one-story warehouse of the Allied Chemical and Dye Corp. plant, tossing out clouds of smoke detected by odor as far away as Huntington, W. Va., 12 miles to the southeast.

There were no reports of any person being injured, or seeking treatment. Plant officials said the fumes could become irritating to the nose and throat if there was any prolonged exposure.

But the pungent odor "strong enough to taste" permeated homes and buildings throughout the area. South Point is a community of some 800 people, in Lawrence County, bordering the Ohio River on the south. Ironton, the county seat, a few miles to the northwest, also caught odors of the fumes.

One Family Evacuated

As far as could be determined, fumes caused evacuation of only one family, living just behind the plant. But residents throughout the area were alerted.

Neither local health officials nor plant chemists seemed seriously disturbed over possible dangers to human life. They were in consultation in an effort to determine the exact chemical substances in the smoke. Later chemists said the smoke was made up mostly of water vapor and nitrous oxides.

Plant watchmen discovered the burning fertilizer at 12:30 a.m. Fire departments from Huntington, and Ashland, Ky., were called to assist the local department and plant firemen.

They donned gas masks to climb mobile cranes and pour tons of water into the smoldering fertilizer. They were still dousing the pile at noon, and they gave no indication when the vapors could be controlled.

May Burn Itself Out

Some firemen thought there was little hope of stopping the fire or stemming the fumes until the giant fertilizer pile burned itself out, or was thoroughly soaked with water. Firemen said the pile's oxygen content kept it burning.

The fertilizer plant is controlled

The Meaning of Lent

A Sermonette

By REV. IRVIN W. EMMONS
Pastor of First Presbyterian Church

"From that time forth began Jesus to show unto His disciples how that he must go up to Jerusalem, and suffer many things . . . and be killed, and raised again the third day." — Matt. 16:21.

For millions of Christians throughout the world, from almost every conceivable denomination of Christendom, this week has marked the beginning of what is perhaps the holiest and most significant season of the Christian year, the season of Lent.

It is most fitting, therefore, that on this first weekend of Lent we should pause and ask ourselves just what should this season mean to us anyway? What can we as Christians be getting from these days? What ought we be getting from them? What is the deep underlying meaning of these days for Christians of all churches, of all creeds, and of all denominations? What does Lent really mean?

TO BEGIN WITH, the season of Lent serves to remind us that the spiritual values of life are the basic values. Living as we do in an age in which the material values are constantly impinging upon our lives, we need very much to be reminded that there are some very important things in this life that cannot be bought and sold, nor can they be measured by the standards of value by which we measure all too many things in life. Many times we modern human beings tend to get terribly mixed up in our sense of values until we spend our lives in the mad quest of things that are not worth the time and effort, while losing sight of those great fundamental things for which Christ stood and by which alone life can be made good, and meaningful, and holy and God-like.

If we approach Lent in the right spirit, it can do so very much to call us away from the stupidly passionate quest of things that cannot endure to the things that alone have eternal meaning for us and those whom we love.

Basically, what does Lent say to you and me? It says this: "Here are the things that really count in an age such as this: God and our relationship to Him; Jesus Christ and His message of hope and salvation for the desperate world in which we are now living; the Church, and the living fellowship it offers to every lonely soul in this world; the Bible, and its ageless message for men everywhere; prayer, and its rich resources that can transform our lives and the life of this world in which we live."

Lent reminds us that the great and enduring things of life have nothing at all to do with the size of a man's salary, the impressiveness of his house, the make of his car, or the club to which he may, or may not, belong. In some deep sense, says Lent, life's deepest meanings and richest values are to be found in that lonely Man of Galilee, with His face set steadfast to go to Jerusalem.

It is so easy to get wrapped up in the things of the world that we lose our sense of spiritual perspective. And all of us do it at one time or another. Lent calls us back from these empty illusive things to the deep and enduring things of life.

MOREOVER THE season of Lent reminds us of the crucial importance of the suffering and death of our Lord. In these weeks immediately before us we will be drawn, in increasing measure, close to the divine mystery of Calvary until, in the solemn days of Holy Week, we will stand in awe-stricken wonder before the terrible majesty of the dying Savior hanging upon His cross. For nearly 2,000 years men have stood before the mystery of that cross. And though their theological interpretations of it have often differed with the churches to which they belonged or the ages in which they lived, Christians of all ages and all denominations are agreed that in this drama of the crucifixion is to be found the revelation of the deepest and holiest purposes of God for man.

Ever since Calvary the lengthening shadow of a cross has fallen across the troubled anxious life of our world. And in the shadow of that cross we have seen revealed the compassionate face of God. "I am come to build my church," said Christ, "And I built it upon a cross. I built it in the agony of God and the redemptive love of the Almighty for sinning, suffering and lonely men everywhere." The season of Lent calls us back to the remembrance that the most important things of our faith are revealed in a cross and in the love of One who hung upon it.

FINALLY, THE season of Lent serves to remind us that there can be no such thing as great religion apart from a spirit of great sacrifice. Did not Jesus Himself say: "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it. For what shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul; and what shall a man give in exchange for his soul."

"My Gospel," Jesus is saying, "does not come cheaply. And any man, or woman, or young person, who would follow me must be prepared to do so at the cost of great personal sacrifice.

My friends, to all of us who call ourselves Christians, sooner or later there comes those moments when we must realize that being a Christian brings with it certain great and inevitable demands, and that the price of discipleship is sacrifice, — the sacrifice of many things in our lives that we may love, the sacrifice of many things that may be very hard to give up. It may be the sacrifice of our pride, of old habits, of certain kinds of "friends", of position, of many things. But there is no easy way to be a Christian — if we do it Christ's way. And that's the only effective way it can be done, isn't it?

Yes, to many different people Lent means many different things. But to all of us as Christians, it means at least this much: that the spiritual values of life are the basic values; that the cross of Jesus Christ is of crucial importance to every human being in this world, and that there can be no such thing as great religion apart from a spirit of great sacrifice. May all of us keep Lent in this spirit this year. And may God bless us in the meaning of it.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

How To Find Personal Peace

In Switzerland last summer, I had a curious experience. A Swiss who had read one of my books in German made an appointment to see me in Burgenstock just outside Lucerne, where we had rented a cottage.

Dr. Peale

Because the man did not understand English, and my German is far from adequate, I asked the headwaiter at the hotel there to interpret for us. Fortunately, waiters in Switzerland usually speak at least three languages.

When my guest arrived I was shocked to see him. His head was twisted into distorted positions, his face twitched constantly, and his hands kept moving in wide, exaggerated gestures. He seemed able to stay upright in his chair only with the greatest of difficulty.

He explained his sad condition by telling me he had been through 17 bombings during World War II. He had lost everything he held dear.

As he talked, the waiter emphasized one point: "This man hates the Germans. He is telling you to warn the United States government and people never to trust them, to keep them down always."

—:—

NOW, MOST Europeans have, by this time, learned to live amicably with the Germans, to forgive them and to help them build—in Western Germany, at least—a new world. This new Germany is one of the pillars of the proposed United States of Europe. And reports from that country also tell us that it is the scene of one of the most dynamic Christian revival movements.

While I listened, I prayed silently for this poor, conflict-ridden man. Then, suddenly, a queer thing happened, for I became aware that I could almost understand him without my interpreter.

When I was a boy in Cincinnati, we had studied German at school part of each day, so that in childhood I knew something of the language, but had used it only occasionally since. However, for several summers I lived in German-speaking Switzerland, and the old knowledge was restimulated. Now, because I felt a desperate need and desire to help this man, a partial use of his tongue came back to me out of my subconscious, and I was even able to communicate with him in halting German.

WHAT I SAID was this: "We need to get back to the source of all life. That source, God's marvelous re-creative power, is pouring down on us, right here, right now. You don't have to shake or twitch or be tense and nervous. You aren't physically ill. The chief cause of your suffering is your hatred of your former enemies. It may be difficult, but you must pray for them and love them until the hate vanishes from your system. Then you will be in the flow of God's healing grace."

Then, I put my hand on him. "There is no power in my hand," I said. "I have no gift of healing." But that man and I—and the waiter too—were praying together for healing. And, all at once, that man's twitching and nervousness ceased. He was absolutely peaceful and quiet.

"I feel so different, so quiet," he told us with an awed voice.

This condition lasted for several minutes. I pointed out that by continuing this form of prayer permanent healing might come.

Personal peace comes to people who forget the wrongs others may have done them and who refuse to give way to self-pity. It comes to those who lose themselves in the love of others, in the effort to help their fellow men. You can find it too.

Jesus Loved Them

By Patrick and Garrison

PETER

"And when Jesus beheld him, he said, Thou art Simon the son of Jona: thou shalt be called Cephas, which is by interpretation, A stone."

—John 1:42

Before meeting Jesus, this disciple was known as Simon ("hearer"). He was the son of a successful fisherman named Jona.

His brother Andrew, a follower of John the Baptist, had been present when the evangelist had baptized Jesus, and when he had said, "Behold the Lamb of God, that taketh away the sin of the world."

Andrew hurried to tell Simon of the event. "We have found the Messiah," he declared excitedly, and took Simon to see Jesus.

Jesus, immediately upon seeing him, recognized him, and gave him the surname by which he was ever afterward to be known—Peter, the rock.

Peter was not merely a "big fisherman" living in a rude hut by the sea, but a well-to-do ship owner, who left a life of comfortable circumstances to follow Jesus.

But before the Resurrection and Ascension, when he set out to establish the Church in the world, there is little doubt that Peter still thought of the Messiah as the political figure foretold by the Jewish prophets.

In the apostle's evangelical history, his character is portrayed with great clarity.

Yet there were contradictions in his make-up, as there are in that of all men. Complete renunciation of the world was not easy for him When Jesus said, "It is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God," Peter was a little dismayed.

"Then answered Peter and said unto him, Behold, we have forsaken all and followed thee; what shall we have therefore?"

As one writer has observed, "He was called to work for the Kingdom of God, and he thought as men do."

Peter's challenge was, in fact, the challenge that has faced all men in all ages, including our own. He had the same weaknesses, and some of the same strength. He fell asleep on the night of Gethsemane, following the Last Supper. In overweening self-confidence, he cried: "Lord, I am ready to go with thee both into prison and to death," then denied that he knew the Man.

But in his strength he defied the Roman emperors, and according to tradition, was crucified head downward by Nero in Rome.

The church he established has lasted almost 2000 years, and is stronger than ever today.

Explosion Starts Fire; Steel Building Ruined

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — An explosion, which firemen blamed on an accumulation of gas, shook a building at the Republic Steel Corp. plant here and started a fire that demolished the two-story frame building Friday night.

Damage was estimated at $30,000. Lorenzo Morales, 29, of Youngstown, suffered second degree burns on the hands and face when he attempted to enter the burning structure, used as a locker room, to save clothing. He is in fair condition at Southside Hospital.

Hays Declares Lausche Alone Blocks Games Appropriations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio) says a single man—U.S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio)—is blocking approval of a near five million dollar federal appropriation for the 1959 Pan American games at Cleveland.

Remarking that the real hurdle for the measure is the Senate, Hays declared Friday:

"If a man gets up in the Senate and says that he is against this thing for his own home town, that's all there is to it. We shouldn't kid ourselves. One man is standing between you (Clevelanders) and this appropriation. His name is Frank J. Lausche."

Already Knocked Out

The Cleveland Plain Dealer, in a report from Washington, said the White House disclosed at a conference Friday that a House appropriations subcommittee already has tentatively knocked the measure from the budget.

The disclosure was made by presidential assistant Howard Pyle, The Plain Dealer said. Among those attending the conference were Cleveland Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze, Douglas Roby of Detroit, who heads the games committee, and some members of the Ohio delegation to Congress—including Sen. Lausche.

Lausche, after the meeting, said he had heard nothing to change his opposition to the $4,900,000 appropriation. Congress last year passed an authorization bill and a $100,000 appropriation measure.

Celebrezze said after that conference and a round of other meetings on Capitol Hill he still is encouraged by the interest he found and hopeful that the House subcommittee will reverse its earlier, informal stand.

Frequent Lausche Critic

Hays, a frequent critic of Lausche, told reporters he thinks Lausche may be trying to "parlay his opposition to the games "into the presidency." He compared Lausche's stand to former Ohio Gov. Vic Donahey's opposition to a baked potato item on an expense account of an Ohio employe. Hays said Donahey won an election largely on the strength of publicity from that stand.

Although most Ohio House members are backing the appropriation, at least two, Reps. Brown (R) and Bow (R), have publicly announced opposition.

Sponsors are counting on the federal appropriation, plus state, county and city contributions to raise an estimated 13 million dollars to stage the games.

Repaving Project Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highways said today it will open bids April 2 on a project to repave slightly more than 1 and ½ miles of Ohio 5 in Warren Township, and the city of Warren.

Bids also will be opened the same day on a project calling for the construction of two bridges on Ohio 349 in Clinton Township, Vinton County.

Buying Methods Of Air Force Will Be Given Scrutiny

WASHINGTON (AP)—Staff assistants of a House subcommittee are expected to go to Dayton, Ohio, tomorrow to investigate Air Force buying methods.

Chairman Hebert (D-La) of the subcommittee for armed services investigations ordered Robert N. Tyler and Raymond Wilcover to make the investigation after conflicting testimony on a complaint buying methods.

Hebert said some of the testimony will be shown the Justice Department to determine whether perjury was committed.

Tyler and Wilcove will visit Air Materiel Command headquarters and Shelby Air Force Depot, where details of the purchase were handled.

Robert G. Adair, Cincinnati manufacturer, complained during hearings last week that he was inequitably treated in negotiations for Air Force purchase of about three million dollars' worth of aircraft air conditioners.

More than 1,500 scholars from 68 nations compose the "foreign student" population at Columbia University in New York City.

Telephone Wages Below Minimum, Says Union Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the Communications Workers of America (CWA) said Friday some operators of General Telephone Co. of Ohio draw starting wages 7 to 10 cents an hour below the present dollar minimum for employes covered by federal law.

Joseph A. Bierne appeared before a Senate labor subcommittee in support of legislation to extend coverage of the minimum wage law to thousands now exempt from the present minimum.

Bierne said a $1.25 hourly wage "is the smallest amount that will bring bare subsistence to an American family."

He said telephone exchanges of less than 750 stations are singled out to be exemptions from the Fair Labor Standards Act. He said beginning operators draw the low pay at such areas in Ohio as College Corner (219 telephones), Lewisburg (663) and Manchester (531).

RESCUE GROUP TO MEET

A meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Rescue Mission will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Prospect Street Methodist Church. Speaker will be Mrs. Robert Wamsley, wife of the mission superintendent, and there will be special music.

WHAT A BIG BOOK!

Of course the Bible is big. Not only in size . . . but in the endless depth of the messages to man.

God never intended the Bible to be studied without help. When an Ethiopian official centuries ago wrestled with a passage from Isaiah, God sent the evangelist, Philip, to meet the man's chariot, climb aboard, and explain the text's reference to the crucifixion of Christ.

Explaining and applying God's Word are still two of the major aims of the Church. Every sermon, every lesson, every discussion topic your church offers is intended to focus your attention on the timeless truths of Scripture and help you thread them into the pattern of your life.

Cherish your Bible . . . read it regularly . . . and let your Church guide you to the richness of its message.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Twins Use Sign Language To Aid Deaf Parents

Galionites Lost Hearing As Infants; Children Act as Interpreters

GALION — The double life of Jack and Jerry Winters, 10-year-old twin boys who are almost identical, gets a little more double and complicated at times. This is because they talk fluently in sign language with their hands, besides speaking good fifth grade English.

The boys must talk by sign in order to converse with their parents, Ray and Ethel Winters, both of whom have been deaf since they were a few months old.

JACK AND JERRY give the impression of having very "old heads on young shoulders." They have assumed many responsibilities in the home like answering the door and greeting guests, answering the telephone and responding to many sounds which their parents do not hear. They also have been helpful with their six-year-old sister, Linda Sue, in teaching her to learn both the sign language and to speak English.

Because Jerry and Jack act as interpreters between their parents and other people, they make explanations and give directions a little more clearly than other boys their age. They make all arrangements, and then clear these with their parents by only a few motions of the hands.

The boys bring home A's and B's on their school grade cards, and this year are completing their Cub Scout training. With their sister they attend the Sunday school of First Evangelical and Reformed Church.

THE BOYS HAVE a certain pride in being able to use the sign language. They tell about demonstrating it for fourth and sixth graders at the North and West schools in connection with the school health program.

"At first we learned the signs when we saw our parents using them, but we didn't know what they meant," Jerry and Jack explained about their first experiences of communicating with their parents.

"Then we met Elsie Beaulieu . . . I think we were about two or three years old. She taught us what the signs meant, and to use the language. She also taught us to speak English and spent much time with us in our home. Elsie can talk both ways because her husband, Don is deaf, and she is not," Jerry said.

"We learned to speak more English after we went to kindergarten," Jack added.

"IT WAS EASY to make our parents know when we wanted milk, because we just made motions like we were milking a cow."

The boys theorize that if their parents had been born deaf, the children would have been born that way, too. Mrs. Winters became deaf when she was 13 months old by an accidental twist of her head Mr. Winters lost his hearing after a serious illness when he was 16 months old

Mrs. Winters can read lips quite well. Both she and her husband make some sounds. They both read and write well.

Mr. Winters, 41, is a welder at the North Electric Co. here He is a former Marion resident, the son of Mrs. Belle Winters of Marion. He has five brothers and one sister. He and Mrs Winters came to Galion after they were married in Toledo, June 19, 1943 Before the twins were born Mrs. Winters also worked.

A YEAR YOUNGER than her husband, she was a resident of Toledo where her parents are still living. She has three brothers and a sister. The couple attended the Ohio State School of Deaf in Columbus, but did not meet until later in a Toledo bowling alley.

The twins and their sister were born in Galion, the boys on Sept. 1, 1946, and Linda Sue on July 17, 1951. The family of five lives at 767 S. Boston St, Galion

THE WINTERS FAMILY of Galion leads a "double life" at times. Mr. and Mrs Winters have been deaf since early childhood. They rely on their twin sons Jack (upper right) and Jerry (lower right) to communicate with the rest of the world. The boys, 10, are teaching their sister, Linda Sue (lower left) to speak both English and use the sign language. The children all have normal hearing.

Council After Sensenbrenner For Statement on Bribe Offer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Did someone try to bribe Columbus Mayor M E. Sensenbrenner to lift the city's ban on extending sewage and water service beyond the city limits?

Various officials including City Council and the Franklin County prosecutor have been trying to find out ever since the mayor told a businessmen's luncheon group Feb. 5 that he was offered $50,000 to relax the sewer and water freeze.

"Bribe," yelled City Council and the hunt was on.

Council formed a special investigating committee to look into the affair. County Prosecutor Samuel L. Devine opened his own investigation and for a while there was talk of taking the matter to the grand jury.

Mayor Sensenbrenner at first seemed surprised by the furor and then declined to discuss it. He has steadfastly refused to name the person or persons who reportedly made the offer. And in a recent letter to Devine he denied that such an offer had been made.

Devine ended his investigation when he received Sensenbrenner's letter. The mayor said he felt the letter closed the incident.

Friday council issued a statement challenging Sensenbrenner to publicly deny his statement about the offer. The statement read, in part.

"If there is no truth in the mayor's statement that he was offered $50,000 and had it (the money) in his hand, then the mayor should say so publicly.

"However, if an offer was made, he has an obligation to the citizens of Columbus to name the party making the reported offer."

When newsmen asked if he intended to answer council's challenge, Mayor Sensenbrenner smiled and walked away.

Daylight Time

The action of the Columbus City Council in seeking to place daylight saving time in effect is being watched with considerable interest in Marion.

If Columbus should adopt daylight time it quite possibly would result in official reconsideration of the subject in Marion.

However, the decision in Columbus may not be known until the May 7 primary election. If no council discussion of it is held here until the Columbus outcome is learned, it may be too late in the spring to consider the step for Marion this year.

The Columbus situation is a rather complicated and peculiar one.

Several weeks ago the Columbus council passed an ordinance establishing daylight saving time to be effective the last of April.

That action brought out the opponents, who began circulating petitions against the ordinance.

Realizing that the petitions could block the ordinance, even though it remains on the books, council took additional action to place the question on the ballot for the May 7 primary.

If the opposition does not file its petitions prior to a deadline which falls the last Sunday in April, then fast time will become effective automatically under the ordinance.

If the petitions are filed but a fast time charter amendment passes at the polls May 7, the time will change in Columbus May 17.

The daylight time question is a familiar one, although up to this point it has obtained most of its support in Ohio from the northeastern section of the state, which is almost solidly on fast time.

It is our feeling that, whether it be daylight or standard time, the entire state should be on the same time.

That probably is strictly wishful thinking, however, and municipalities undoubtedly will have to continue to struggle with the problem on a local option basis.

Power of an Idea

There are only 2,600 Norwegians, Colombians, Swedes, Indians and Danes in the United Nations token force which will police the areas in dispute between Israel and Egypt.

They could be knocked off in 24 hours by either of the belligerents. They would be sitting ducks for a civilian uprising.

They have no air power, no guarantee that their supply lines will not be caught, not even a common language to hold them together.

Yet, it is not being questioned seriously that they will be able to keep the Israelis and Egyptians from each other's throats in the disputed areas.

Why?

They symbolize the power of an idea. Then power is in the thought which underlies what they are doing, not in their numbers.

The thought is shared by most Israelis and most Egyptians. It has been brought sharply to the attention of their governments by prolonged discussions of their enmity in the United Nations and in discussions with spokesmen for other governments.

The discussions have revealed that neither Egypt nor Israel has anything to gain by belligerency. Both have much to gain, on the other hand, by letting the symoblic U.N. force stand between them. There is no other way they can resolve their differences without irreparable damage to each side.

Those 2,600 symbolic soldiers in the Holy Land are making more history than they could comprehend as they stand guard.

Nothing So Good

A two-year study of Ohio liquor laws by the Legislative Service Commission recommended by Gov. O'Neill apparently has the backing of both parties. It will produce results in the next biennial session in 1959.

Ohio's liquor control act has been a model for the nation. When it was passed in the early thirties, it represented the best thought of students who had studied the problem of how to get rid of the intolerable practices which had led to the unsuccessful experiment with national prohibition.

But nothing is so good it should not be thrown open to review from time to time, with a view to bringing it up to date. Some provision of the Ohio law, such as the original population base for granting permits, have become obsolete. Some provisions, such as the prohibition of signs, have not been enforceable as far as intent was concerned. There are procedures in the law which have proved awkward in practice, such as the one making Franklin County the focus of legal appeals.

A detailed, conscientious study by the Legislative Service Commission, with the entire liquor law thrown open for review, is bound to produce constructive recommendations. A thorough airing in the General Assembly, moreover, would bring forth further points of view about weaknesses which should be repaired.

It is not a task to be done in haste and certainly not in prejudice. But it is a task that needs doing after half a generation's experience with a law that had no precedent when it was put into effect at the close of America's shattering experience with national prohibition, which followed another shattering experience with the open saloon.

Religion In and On the Job

Wonderful Feeling

By EUGENE CARR

When a giant airliner crashed on Riker's Island in New York's East River not long ago, we witnessed once again one of the pronounced inconsistencies in the makeup of man.

"Trusties" from the adjacent prison rushed to the scene and performed heroic rescues of passengers trapped in the burning plane. Again and again, they fought their way through searing flames to save lives that, except for such bravery, would have been snuffed out in the disaster.

These men, in prison for serious crimes, had at times earlier in life, shown hardened disregard for others. Yet, in this emergency, they rose to heights of uncommon personal sacrifice to help their fellowmen.

THE PRISONERS did not seize on this opportunity to make a break for freedom. Nor was it a final act of martyrdom, for they all came out alive. Nor was there any indication they had in mind easing their sentences. It all happened too fast. The plane crashed and they volunteered spontaneously.

Man is puzzling. He can sink to the lowest depths or rise to a peak of perfection. Both can happen, and do happen, in the life of the same man, sometimes in the brief span of a single day. He isn't consistently one thing or the other.

Perhaps man's inconsistency in this respect is encouraging. For, if he were consistently bad there would be no hope for the world. Since he is always capable of better things, no matter how low he may sink, there is constant hope that the good in him will win out and, eventually, prevail over the bad. It's giving the good a chance to prevail that counts.

DAY AFTER DAY we have the opportunity to make this choice. The decisions that dictate the way we will go are seldom dramatic in nature, for a Riker's Island incident does not come to many of us in a lifetime. But other decisions face us, equally important decisions, some of major proportions, and a multitude of little ones.

It's in these day - to - day decisions that we set a pattern for thinking and doing that leads us either to right or wrong. When we give the right a chance to prevail in everything we do, there is no need for disaster to enter our lives to shock us into realization that right is to be preferred over wrong.

One of the hero-prisoners on Riker's Island that black night of the plane crash remarked that it was wonderful to feel like a man again.

Feeling like a man again is wonderful! It is a feeling we never need be without. It is a feeling that can't come too late in life.

Reds Renew Cold War

By Eric Downton

A marked drop in the international temperature and renewal of the cold war are forecast by western diplomats as the eleventh session of the U.N. General Assembly nears its end.

In the months following this session — the most embittered ever in the factious history of this international "parliament" — snarls are expected to replace many of the smiles which over the past year have been worn by the Communists as part of their diplomatic attire.

The Kremlin will probably revert to sabre - rattling and toughness. This will be accompanied by propaganda asserting that the U.S. and its allies have rebuffed Soviet "peace moves" and disarmament suggestions.

As part of a revived war of nerves the West can be prepared to hear a good deal more about Russian nuclear weapons tests and development of intercontinental rockets and guided missiles.

SOVIET ACTIVITY in the Middle East will be increased as a direct challenge to the "Eisenhower Doctrine" for that region. Turkey and Persia, U.N. sources believe, will be victims of fresh Moscow pressures.

Ostentatious strengthening of the Warsaw Pact — the Communist military alliance produced as a propaganda reply to NATO — has already started. Satellite troops will be goose - stepping loudly in East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Poland and other countries where the Red Army rules.

Latin - American delegates at U.N. are expecting stepped-up Communist activity in Central and South America.

Nationalist Chinese representatives here allege Peiping is moving to inflame old trouble spots in Asia.

A fresh rash of trumped - up anti-western spy scares and trials is breaking out in Communist states.

-:-

WESTERN DIPLOMATS and newspapermen over the past few weeks have encountered a definite tightening in the granting of visas and permits for entry into and travel within red-ruled areas. Police supervision of foreigners in Communist countries has been more marked, after a long period of relaxation.

Bonn government officials report indications that the Russians seem ready to turn the screws on West Berlin again.

Apparently the Soviet leaders were encouraged to make this latest switch in the zig - zagging course of their foreign policy tactics at the recent Sino-Russian conferences while Chou En-lai, premier of Red China, was in Moscow.

The Chinese Communists have always been fast and ruthless in applying the bullet to the back of the head when psychological warfare failed to gain their ends.

Chou En-lai, according to U. N. reports, minimized the adverse Asian reactions to the Hungarian uprising and counselled a get-tough policy.

BOTH MOSCOW and Peiping are believed to be reasonably satisfied with recent economic progress in the U S S.R. and China. Thus they are not confronting fundamental domestic economic problems of the urgency now faced by Britain for example.

Adding up such factors, western diplomats, thankfully awaiting the close to this trouble - loaded session of the U.N. General Assembly, are resigned to a definite overall increase in international tensions for months ahead, even though the immediate crisis of Suez and Hungary have been partially smothered.

"We shall need cool nerves and plenty of fence-mending among the western allies" one of them commented.

Log Jam Broken?

Moscow Takes Notice

By David Lawrence

The real significance of the Eisenhower Doctrine Resolution, just passed by both houses of Congress, may not be immediately apparent to the public in these days of swift-moving events but the lesson will not be overlooked in Moscow.

Lawrence

For the truth is that, for all practical purposes, the United States now has declared war on international communism in every area of the world.

America specifically has served warning that any attempt to impair or interfere with the national independence of any country in the Middle East, either by military threat or by internal subversion through economic means or otherwise, will meet with countermeasures which could involve the use of military force.

The final text of the resolution, which passed the Senate by a vote of 72 to 19 and the House by 350 to 60 — more than two - thirds in each case — is much stronger than when originally proposed by the President and secretary of state.

This is conceded in a formal report of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The Eisenhower administration in some ways would have preferred the original version as approved by the House but the broad language used by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was deemed acceptable because the Senate committee report has interpreted its meaning so clearly.

-:-

TODAY, THEREFORE, the Communists in both Moscow and Peiping are on notice that, by an overwhelming vote of both houses of Congress and of both political parties in America, the armed forces of the United States will be used in the Far East — in accordance with the Formosa Resolution of 1955 — and in the Middle East, in accordance with the Eisenhower Doctrine Resolution.

The Pan - American countries are protected by the Monroe Doctrine and the organization of American states.

As for Europe, the North Atlantic Treaty has set up an organization of 15 countries whose territorial integrity and political independence are guaranteed by the United States as well as other powers against Communist agression.

The Southeast Asia area is protected by special treaties known as "SEATO."

Even North Africa comes within the general scope of the Eisenhower Doctrine. Likewise, the area covered by the Northern tier of states in the Middle East, under what is known as the Bagdad Pact, can be said to be protected now by the resolution of authority just passed by Congress.

Thus, by United States aid, the whole world is fortified directly or indirectly against international communism.

THIS IS a momentous step in American history and a milestone in world affairs. It means that, while, as stated in the new resolution, the United States plans to act in accordance with the provisions of the United Nations Charter — complying with the orders of the Security Council and the resolutions of the General Assembly — this country will not be stopped from acting alone if the U.N. falls down.

This is probably the first instance in which any country has pledged itself alone under Article 51 to do what the U.N. may fail to do.

But whatever action the United States takes under the new resolution must be as a consequence of the request of the nation or group of nations desiring military assistance.

Nobody can complain now that the United States didn't make its intentions clear, as was unfortunately the case prior to World War I and World War II.

American military power will be put on the scales to produce a general balance of power against the Soviets and their allies and satellites.

The basic purpose, of course, is not to take military measures but to deter the Communists. It is a move of prevention. It conceivably could mean no steps at all would ever be taken on the military side beyond the deploying of American forces in or near the areas that might be threatened.

-:-

THE MONROE DOCTRINE kept the aggressors of Europe out of the Western Hemisphere.

The Truman Doctrine warned Communist aggressors to keep out of Greece and Turkey.

Now the Eisenhower Doctrine warns Communist aggressors to keep out of the Middle East, just as a similar warning has gone out to the Soviet and Red China regimes to keep hands off Southeast Asia, Formosa and Japan.

Meanwhile, economic aid will be used judiciously to bolster military strength anywhere that's necessary.

While the Eisenhower doctrine pledges the United States to take certain action, it does not preclude America from joining collectively with Britain and France and any other nations in military steps, as permitted under Article 51 of the Charter of the United Nations.

It is a great advance and may prove the turning point in preventing World War III.

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: All my life I have been strung along by a claim that I did not really believe most of the time — that most of the people on earth would like to live peaceably and resent war when it happens.

I have kept my mouth shut to avoid arguments — and also because I myself did not want to admit that peace was not universally wanted. But lately it has begun to be clear to me that failure to recognize the desire for war is the main reason why peace has been elusive.

It is not, after all, something that can happen automatically in the absence of war. It must be worked at. There must be a positive approach to the problem, not a negative approach. Peace is not the absence of war.

It is the presence of another force that is stronger than war. This is, to my mind, the important thing that has happened these last few years. There has been a momentous attempt to develop a force stronger than war.

For the first time, trouble-makers and trouble-seekers have run into something big enough to make them think twice. It is not big enough yet to make them reach a decision to renounce war, but it is big enough to raise doubts in their minds. And it is growing.

We must expect it to have growing pains and setbacks, because nothing of such magnitude can evolve without them. Nevertheless, after a full meal and with the wind in the right direction, I can believe that in another generation of progress the trick actually might be turned.

There might then be a peace-keeping force backed up by a peace - keeping authority which would work hard enough and well enough to keep the bully-boys from running amuck when they felt their oats. The urge would still be there, but it would be offset by an even greater urge among peace-keepers to make the bully-boys get back into line when they grow obstreperous.

This would have to be backed up, of course, by a strong determination to step down hard on war-makers — not just give them a nudge and a lecture but give them a wallop on the beezer and a thorough going-over whenever they showed signs of wanting to settle things with guns.

The most successful peacemakers we have are experienced policemen who knew how to break up trouble. I do not take anything away from people who can sweet-talk bullies into submission, but that is a risky business and rarely successful.

Give me a bunch of cops who know more about getting rough than the roughnecks they handle and back them up with authority to do their job right, and I will keep the peace indefinitely. I will do this in spite of the fact many of the folks who will stay peaceable against their will are bound to be sore about it, because their inclination is to start busting heads.

We cannot reform mankind, but if we worked at it hard enough we could restrain its warmakers. That is the way the job eventually will have to be done, which is all I have to say in this week's sermon by your addled—

The Once Over

Reflections of a Tourist

More meditations on long-distance auto trip to and from a winter resort: The aftermath with its relief from each "long day's journey into nightmare."

The comfort that comes with getting home, waking up and realizing that life is not one truck after another.

The great and glorious end of the trip when the top question of the morning will no longer be "Shall we make 450 miles today or try for five?"

-:-

OUR TRIP was around 1,200 miles each way. It started, as all such journeys do, with the calm statement, "We are in no hurry and will take our time," but saw us joining a dawn patrol each sunrise with the speed of refugees from a chain gang.

We went down and back so fast we often wondered if we were a man or a guided missile. It was a case of hurling ourself through space and quite legally, since most states no longer care how fast you drive on those new highways as long as you don't look too much like a flying saucer. Most winter tourists drive so fast they put a backspin on themselves.

WHY DO ALL farmhouses look alike on a Florida trip?

Each one seemed like the one we had passed six hours ago, and we felt it was one and the same house following us.

The Civil War roadside tablets we have wanted to read on every trip for the last 20 years but which are passed so fast that the words "At This Point Stonewall Jackson Fought the Battle Of" merges into "Ed's Cheesburger Grill 200 Yards Ahead" with the speed of light.

-:-

THE NUMBER OF huge trucks on the road must be at a new high and most of them must be on highways between tourist resorts. It will be weeks before we can get fully over the feeling we are caught between two 10-ton trucks on a narrow road and that if we ever get by them we will be held up by one of those lads who is going no place and means to get there slowly.

Memories: The motel with the railroad tracks in the rear and the truck routes in front, bringing the decision to get up and get going at 3 a.m. instead of 6 o'clock.

Those billboards everlastingly advertising pralines, smoked hams, alligator farms, pecan nuts and hush-puppies.

THE OBVIOUS IMPRESSION on such tours that anybody driving sensibly is a nuisance. The feeling that business routines should be suspended to permit vacationists to pass on a wing and a leer.

The morning after arrival home and the wonderful realization another day of traffic lights, detours, sharp curves, toll bridges, southern fried chicken and queries of, "Careful; isn't that a motor cop behind us" isn't facing you again!

(Note.—We keep thinking of the many roadside zoos filled with alligators and monkeys. The monkeys plainly have it all over tourists. They know each day where they will sleep that night!)

Galion Marks Anniversary of Trouble Clinic

GALION — "Business as usual" was the theme of the Friday meeting of the Galion Trouble Clinic, but the members did pause long enough to commemorate their fourth anniversary. The meeting was held at Hotel Talbott.

J. Harold Blosser was re-elected president. Other officers also retained were: vice president, Miss Margaret E. Loris; secretary, Mrs. Les Humpel; and treasurer, Mrs. Grace Marshall. Two new members elected to the board of trustees, are Mrs. Paul Durtschi and Howard Dudley. Another trustee, Mrs. Humpel, was re-elected. The remainder of the board is comprised of Mr. Blosser, Miss Loris, Mrs. Marshall, Rev. Philip E. Auer and Dr. Martin Horowitz.

The Trouble Clinic, organized here in March, 1953, by Miss Loris and Miss Edna Smith, has become an institution in Galion. The entire community has become conscious of its work and many contributions have been received from clubs, individuals and organizations. Members pay no dues, and the clinic never has solicited funds nor made an appeal for financial aid.

Financial donations are received by the Clinic and monthly contributions are received from several sources. The car which the case worker uses is furnished by a local automobile dealer, and the car license and automobile club membership is furnished by an anonymous donor. Persons once helped by the Clinic often pay back with contributions and give assistance.

Instead of its own birthday anniversary, the Trouble Clinic is concentrating on the celebration of the third anniversary later this month of the Golden Age Club which it organized.

From nine persons who attended the first meeting four years ago, the clinic has grown to a membership of nearly 50 people from many walks of life. None receives any remuneration for the many hours donated in case work and various duties.

The clinic's cases have been so varied and numerous that they could not be listed here.

The clinic members feel that they have been guided in knowing how to solve many problems because of the minute of silent prayer which precedes all meetings.

Segregationist Subpenaed in Florida Probe

200 Cheer Speaker's Demands for Action In Integration Fight

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—John Kasper, anti-integrationist from Washington, D. C., told an applauding audience of about 200 Friday night that segregationists would "maintain racial integrity, even at the point of a shotgun."

After his talk, the 27-year-old executive secretary of the Seaboard White Citizens Council was subpenaed to appear Monday before a Florida legislative committee investigating the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

'Plan of Nature'

Speaking in a night club from a platform decorated with U. S. and Confederate flags, Kasper said segregation was "a plan of nature established by the Creator in the heavens" and declared racial integration has destroyed nations.

Kasper said Negro campaigns for integration were led by Jews. "I'm not anti-Semitic," he said, "but facts are facts and I don't think it's bigotry to say them."

During the meeting a 61-year-old Atlanta Quaker, Ashton B. Jones, interrupted Kasper. He asked five minutes to present his views. Kasper refused, saying the meeting was paid for by segregationists and "we think all who share your views are merely imbeciles."

Surrounded by Police

Amid shouts of "throw him out," Jones was surrounded by police. He remained at the rally.

Kasper urged that public schools threatened with integration should be closed and parents be given state grants to send their children to private, segregated schools. He also recommended legislation imposing penalties for "irresponsible statements of fact in the newspaper press."

The White Citizens Council leader is free in $10,000 bond pending outcome of an appeal he took when sentenced to one year for contempt of federal court in the Clinton, Tenn., race disorders.

Another advantage of these tiny foreign cars is that the tool kit is wonderful for repairing cigarette lighters.

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A New York Negro ex-Communist told a legislative committee that the Rev. Martin Luther King of Montgomery, Ala., is leading Southern Negroes to bloodshed by creating a psychosis of hate.

Manning Johnson, the former Red, said the Alabama Negro minister heading an anti-segregation move is "a dastardly misleader, a megalomaniac seeking power."

King is president of the Southern Leadership Conference and has been emphasizing nonviolence after leading the Montgomery bus boycott.

Johnson, before television cameras and radio microphones Friday, testified the minister's efforts "could lead to communism in the South."

"Civil disobedience," the witness said, "will lead only to bloodshed and violence. It will lead to the Negroes losing their homes and jobs and create a psychosis of hate."

Johnson was a star witness for the joint legislative committee on behind racial strife. The group closes its three-day hearings in the state capitol today.

Prisoner Asks for, Gets Extra Time To Finish Study Course

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A bogus Army surgeon who wanted to stay in prison long enough to finish a correspondence course in engineering is going to have almost time enough to get a college degree.

Frank Purness, 35-year-old Chicago truck driver now in the federal penitentiary at Terre Haute, Ind., pleaded guilty in Federal Court Friday to impersonating a federal officer and transporting stolen goods.

When Judge William E. Stickler sentenced him to six more months in prison Purness said:

"You'd think I'm crazy, sir, but I'd like to stay there another year so I can finish a correspondence course in industrial engineering. I couldn't afford to complete it if I were on the outside.

The judge sentenced Purness to 11 years, with eight suspended. The three-year term will start in May when the current two-year term ends.

Federal officials said Purness left Chicago in his laundry truck in 1955 and took a 10,000-mile trip marked by a long series of worthless checks, a bigamous marriage and an amazing impersonation of an Army surgeon.

They said his knowledge of medical language was so extensive that he talked his way into the operating room at the Niles City, Mont., Veterans Administration hospital. He was arrested on a check charge later in Crossette, Ark.

Committee Heads Appointed for TB Association Here

The executive committee of the Marion County Tuberculosis and Health Association met Friday noon at Hotel Harding with W. Kenneth Tobin, president, in charge of the session.

Committee chairmen for the fiscal year, beginning April 1, were appointed by Mr. Tobin as follows: Dr. E. L. Brady, special projects; Mrs. Walter E. Hane, case finding; Rev. Irvin W. Emmons, rehabilitation; Mrs. D. E. English, health education; Robert O. Stout, revision of constitution, Mr. Tobin, budget and finance, and Paul W. Kohler, seal sale.

Mr. Tobin announced that the annual meeting of the association will be held April 12 at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the public health wing at Marion General Hospital.

He pointed out that anyone who contributed to the seal drive is automatically a member of the organization and is welcome to attend the session, during which officers will be elected and a program held.

Members of the committee in charge of the annual meeting will be Miss Irene Tinklepaugh, Mrs. Rose Nichols, Mrs. Chester Roberts and Mrs. Jess Stewart.

A financial report revealed that proceeds to date from the Christmas seal sale total $13,876, slightly more than last year at this time. Proceeds from the sale are the only means of carrying out organized TB control in Marion County.

Eighty-nine X-rays were read at the monthly chest clinic for the February and March sessions, a written report submitted by Dr. George Kress, X-ray specialist from Columbus, stated.

The figure was exceptionally high due to the number of referrals which were checked as a result of the mobile X-ray unit's visit in early December.

Delaware Patrol Nabs Youth After Accident

DELAWARE — A McCutchenville area youth who allegedly fled the scene of an accident early today is being held in Delaware County jail for investigation of possible auto larceny, patrolmen of the Delaware post reported.

The northbound auto driven by Norman T. McQuiston, 18, of near McCutchenville, went out of control and crossed the center line on Route 23, about seven miles north of Delaware at 1:55 a.m. today, striking a southbound vehicle, the report indicated.

The McQuiston car then grazed off the vehicle driven by Clyde Nix of Detroit, Mich., and continued for 75 yards before it came to rest in a ditch on the east side of the highway.

Patrolmen said McQuiston got out of the auto and ran across a field barefooted, attempting to hide under a bale of hay in a barn. Officials apprehended the youth and jailed him, pending further investigation.

A charge of leaving the scene of the accident already has been filed against him, patrolmen said. Considerable damage was done to both vehicles. No injuries were sustained.

Marion Area Auto Mishaps

Patrolmen of the Marion post reported injuries in one of the two Marion County accidents investigated Friday while city police noted nine minor accidents in Marion during the day.

The injury accident investigated by the patrol occurred on Route 95 six miles east of Marion at 7:45 a.m. and resulted in the arrest of all three drivers involved.

The bumper to bumper jostle was set off when a westbound car driven by Martha Kelly, 39, of Edison, struck the back end of a vehicle driven by James H. Linscott, 19, of near Cardington, which had stopped to discharge a passenger, patrolmen said.

A third car in the line of traffic, driven by John Bodman, 18, of near Edison, struck the rear end of the Kelly auto, patrolmen said. Extensive damage was done to all three vehicles.

Martha Kelly was taken to Morrow County Hospital for treatment of a bruised left knee and ankle and lacerations of the nose.

The passenger alighting from the Linscott vehicle, Marie Linscott, 38, of Cardington, was treated by a local physician for a fractured rib and body abrasions and contusions.

The three drivers will appear in Marion Municipal Court, March 15, the Kelly and Bodman drivers on charges of failure to stop within assured clear distance, and Linscott on a charge of stopping on the highway.

A Marion man was involved in the second county accident which occurred on Route 95 four miles east of Marion at 10:30 p.m.

The car driven by Norman D. Hartman, 20, of Belmont St. was attempting to make a left turn into a county road when another auto attempted to pass it and the two collided.

Patrolmen said that after the collision the Hartman car veered to the side of the road where it knocked down a mailbox owned by Paul Anthony of near Caledonia.

Moderate damage was done to the Hartman auto and to that driven by Millard Rice, 31, of Mount Gilead, the report indicated. Rice was cited to appear in Marion Municipal Court March 11 on a charge of passing at an intersection.

At a conference called by the mayor this week, the permit holders were told by Mayor Sullivan that he had received numerous complaints recently about minors being able to purchase drinks in local taverns.

The mayor told the tavern keepers that future violations will result in the maximum fine and jail sentence being invoked. Some permit holders maintained that the intoxicants frequently are purchased by adults, who later give them to juveniles.

Council Study Of Sewers Set Here Monday

Legislation dealing with sewers or associated matters will top discussions of Marion City Council at its regular meeting Monday night in City Hall.

One will be an ordinance creating the position of sanitary engineer in the engineering department and providing for addition of two new sewer inspectors. It also will be to establish the salaries for the three new positions.

Establishment of the positions was recommended by Safety-Service Director R. Guy Bigelow and the sewer committee of City Council based on recommendations contained in the sewer survey report of Floyd G. Browne and Associates.

The consulting engineers suggested that the city immediately launch a program to correct cross-connections between sanitary and storm water sewers.

The sanitary engineer is to serve as both a resident engineer on forthcoming sewer construction projects and as supervisor of the program to correct the cross-connections. The inspectors also will work on both the new construction projects and investigation and correction of the cross-connections.

Other sewer legislation facing council Monday night includes three resolutions of necessity for the Silver St., Pearl St. and Davids St.-Bellefontaine Ave. sewers.

Other legislation on the agenda is more routine and includes some street improvements, damage claims against the city and additional appropriations for 1957.

The 25-year-old, 6-foot-2 Walsh had been charged with striking Pvt. David Lee Porter, 18, of Hartford, Vt., the government's chief witness. This charge was thrown out but Walsh was found guilty of touching Porter illegally.

Cincinnati Fire Damage Might Reach Million

CINCINNATI (AP)—Wind-whipped flames roared through a wool processing plant in the city's west end today causing damage which officials said might run as high as one million dollars.

One fireman was overcome by smoke and two others affected by it as they fought the blaze at the Ohio Wool Pulling Co. Seventy-five firemen were called to the three-story brick structure. They escaped injury when the roof and the third floor collapsed.

Cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

Thirty-five trucks were pulled from a building at the rear of the burning structure when the flames threatened the O. K. Trucking Co.

Foreman Amos Williams said between 700 and 800 bales of raw wool, each weighing about 800 or 900 pounds, were in the Ohio Wool building. He said the wool was valued at $1.25 a pound. An additional 5,000 pounds of dry wool was also being processed in the plant. Williams said if the wool were damaged by smoke and water it would represent a $720,000 loss to the company.

Two employes were working in the plant when the fire broke out. They made a futile attempt to extinguish the fire with a hose, then called the fire department. Eventually, three alarms were sounded and 14 companies responded, together with two units of the life saving squad and two units of the salvage corps.

Hundreds of spectators were attracted to the scene in the chilly early morning.

Ohio Wool is owned by A. David Lundy Corp. of Philadelphia.

Plans for Benefit Dance Completed By Farmers Union

At a director's meeting of the Marion County Farmers Union Friday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Aiken, tickets for the union's polio benefit dance were distributed.

The dance is scheduled for April 5 in the Union Hall on Leader St., with both round and square dancing featured. Hugh Johnson will call and all proceeds will be donated to the Magnetic Springs polio foundation.

Additional plans were made for the union's March meeting, which is to be a banquet March 28 in the hall. The event will be in honor of members residing in the west side of Marion County who were winners of the recently completed union membership contest.

Arrangements are being made to invite to the meeting the five foreign exchange farm students now in Ohio. One of these is Otto Hans Hocke of Zennern, Germany, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Beaver of near Marion.

The directors also welcomed back Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pfeiffer, who spent the past week in Washington, D. C., as official representatives of the Marion County organization. Mr. Pfeiffer is president of the local group.

The committee in charge of the banquet-meeting arrangements includes Mrs. Harry Price, chairman, and Mrs. Emmett Trout, Mrs. George Howard, Mrs. John Ruth and Mrs. Roger Kepford.

by the Atmospheric Nitrogen Co., an affiliate of Allied Chemical. The plant lies along U.S. 52.

The fire is believed to have originated through combustion of chemicals in the pile. Shortly after an alarm had been sounded, firemen had the blaze under control, keeping the flames from spreading to other buildings of the sprawling, 60 million dollar plant. But they could not control the fumes, which grew more dense as water fell on the fire.

During the early stages there was no wind, holding the vapor clouds in the immediate area. Firemen hoped a wind would spring up to disperse the clouds before they reached additional communities.

$15 Taken From Local Store's Cash Register

Sneak theft of $15.24 from a cash register in the W. T. Grant Co. store at W. Center and S. Prospect Sts. was reported to Marion police Friday afternoon.

Employes told police they had noticed an elderly man in the store near the cash register and later found a 30-cent sale was "rung up" on the register, the cash drawer was standing open and the money was missing. The register was located near the front door and none of the clerks heard the drawer being opened.

Mother of 3 Held In Alleged Plot To Murder Husband

SELDEN, N.Y. (AP) — A mother of three children is under mental observation after failure of an alleged plot to dynamite her husband for his $5,000 insurance.

Mrs. Elvira M. Hough, 35, was committed Friday to Central Islip, N. Y. State Hospital. Police said she tried to hire a man to rig up a dynamite charge on the family car which would kill her husband, Williard (Buddy) Hough, 31.

The other man involved, Oscar Farrell, 52, a truck driver, went to authorities.

Mrs. Hough was held by Justice of the Peace Leon Guiffreda on an open charge pending a 60-day observation period at the state hospital. No charges were filed against Farrell.

The husband, a crane operator, was stunned by the alleged scheme.

"I just can't believe it," he said, "I thought the police were joking when they told me."

Theater Attractions

Following is a summary of the motion pictures that will be presented at theaters in Marion next week.

Palace

"Slander," story of an entertainer whose professional career and family happiness face tragic consequences when an episode of his past is raked up by a scandal magazine, will be the feature attraction of a double bill Sunday through Wednesday at the Palace Theater. Starred are Van Johnson, Ann Blyth and Steve Cochran.

Also showing will be "Men in War," a dramatic picture of the Korean War, starring Robert Ryan and Aldo Ray and co-starring Robert Keith.

In "Slander," Van Johnson is seen as Scott Martin who, as a teenager, was sent to prison for an armed assault case but who has paid for his crime and who since has struggled to maintain his wife and son on his meager livelihood as a puppeteer. It is when he is finally on the verge of crashing the "big time" as a highly-paid television attraction that his past catches up with him in the person of H. R. Manley, ruthless publisher of a scandal sheet.

The publisher knows that Scott, a youthful neighbor of a now famous actress, has information on her which Manley needs for one of his exposes. If Scott will give him this information Manley will kill an already prepared story with photographs on the entertainer's prison record. When Scott refuses to destroy the actress' happiness in order to save his own, his world begins to go to pieces.

The story in "Men in War" is of a platoon in combat in the Korean War. It tells of the loyalties, ideals and bitter conflicts of officers and enlisted men under extreme stress.

Billed as a double feature for Thursday through Saturday are two John Wayne pictures, "Sands of Iwo Jima" and "Wake of the Red Witch." Co-starred with Wayne in the former are John Agar, Adele Mara and Forrest Tucker, and heading the cast with Wayne in the latter are Gail Russell, Gig Young, Adele Mara and Luther Adler.

"Sands of Iwo Jima" is a story of the Marines and begins at a Marine training camp in New Zealand in 1943. The ruthless tactics of Sgt. Stryker, a seasoned campaigner, puts hate into the hearts of his men. But after Tarawa is taken and the squad witnesses the value of his fighting knowledge, they begin to have respect for him. A highlight of the picture is the re-enactment of the raising of the flag on Mt. Suribachi.

Ohio

"Anastasia," starring Ingrid Bergman in her first American-made motion picture in seven years, is the attraction at the Ohio Theater.

The stellar cast, besides Miss Bergman, is headed by Yul Brynner and Helen Hayes. It was produced in Paris, Copenhagen and London under the supervision of Buddy Adler, executive producer for 20th Century-Fox, and was directed by Anatole Litvak. The picture will play through Wednesday.

The theme of the picture is drawn from the persistent beliefs that the youngest daughter of the last Russian Czar survived the Revolution.

The story opens during Easter services in front of the Greek Orthodox Church in Paris. A bewildered, sick and bedraggled woman, played by Ingrid Bergman, is found by ex-General Bounine (Yul Brynner), who believes he can pawn her off as Anastasia, Grand Duchess of Russia, and claim the 10 million pounds the late Czar left in the Bank of England for his heirs.

Anastasia is led carefully through a rehabilitation and training program emerging a beautiful and captivating person. After the general accomplishes this transformation, he moves to get his charge an audience with the Dowager Empress (Helen Hayes) to recognize her as the real heiress.

Heading the supporting cast in the picture are Akim Tamiroff, Martita Hunt, Felix Aylmer, Sacha Pitoeff, Ivan Desny and Natalie Schafer.

Tonight and Sunday, "Anastasia" will be shown in evening shows only. A matinee both days will be a Jungle Jamboree for children, including the Bowery Boys in "Jungle Gents," Bomba the Jungle Boy in "Lord of the Jungle" and the Little Rascals in "The Kid From Borneo."

Thursday through Saturday, a double feature attraction will be "Three Brave Men" starring Ray Milland and Ernest Borgnine and co-starring Frank Lovejoy, Nina Foch and Dean Jagger, plus "Secret of Treasure Mountain" with Valerie French, Raymond Burr, William Prince and Lance Fuller.

"Three Brave Men" tells the story of a wrong committed against an innocent man, of the sufferings and faith of his family and of the good neighbors who risked public disapproval to defend his name. Ernest Borgnine is that man and Ray Milland is the lawyer who defends him.

In the latter, an adventurer in the mountains meets a bank bandit. They find a gold prospector and his daughter living in one cabin and a half-breed Indian in another on an isolated mountain plateau. Here, the bandit finds a gold cross, a clue to the hiding place of untold millions buried in the area by Indians. He tries to force the secret out of the Indian.

State

"The Bad Seed" starring Nancy Kelly and Patty McCormack, plus "Born to the Saddle," in color, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State Theater.

Billed for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday are "The Houston Story" and "The Royal African Rifles." The former stars Gene Barry and Barbara Hale, and heading the cast in the latter, which is in color, is Louis Hayward.

William Holden is the star of the film, "Toward the Unknown," color film which will be shown Friday and Saturday. Completing the billing will be "The Maverick" starring Wild Bill Elliott.

Had 12 Suits, but Only 2 Left—1 for Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Until last Thursday night Harold W. Hester had 12 suits of clothing but he told Superior Court Friday that now only two suits were left: viz: The one he was wearing, and the pending divorce suit with his wife, Renola.

Hester brought the other 11 suits of clothing to court. All were slashed and ruined. He said Renola did it.

She denied it and insisted she merely dropped by his Gardena home to discuss something unrelated to the divorce. Before it was settled police had been called, however.

"I don't feel that this is a case for reconciliation," commented Superior Judge Elmer D. Doyle. "But leave each other alone."

Hester was ordered to pay $50 monthly temporary alimony pending trial of the divorce suit.

Arrangements For Soap Box Derby Studied

Preliminary arrangements for the Marion Lions Club's 11th annual Soap Box Derby, scheduled for July 20, are under way, Harold Fetter, Derby director, announced today.

Racer wheels, application blanks and rule books will be available within the next month at the Midtown Chevrolet Co., 203 S. Main St., Mr. Fetter stated.

The Lions Club is pointing out that all youths in Marion County and in counties adjacent to Marion County who are 11 through 15 years of age are eligible to enter the Derby. They are urged to begin making plans for their racers immediately. Boys entering the Derby must be 11 no later than Aug. 18, the date of the All-American Derby in Akron. Those who will be 16 by that date are ineligible.

Derby participants will receive aid in building racers at a series of derby clinics to start in April.

Various derby sponsors will provide wheels and axles for the racers. Builders will be permitted to spend up to $15 on the construction of the racers.

When obtaining an application blank, the youth must be accompanied by a parent or guardian, Mr. Fetter pointed out.

Labor Federation To Probe Charge On Bakers' Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany says the labor federation's ethical practices committee will look next Friday into misconduct charges against the president of the Bakery and Confectionary Workers Union.

Curtis R. Sims, suspended Friday as secretary - treasurer of the 160,000-member bakery union, charges the group "is dominated by a corrupt influence in the person of its president, James G. Cross." Cross has denied the charges.

Sims took his accusations to Meany after he lost out in an effort to have the union's executive board oust Cross and Vice President George Stuart on charges of misconduct.

The bakery union's executive board announced Friday it had cleared both Cross and Stuart of Sims' charges.

Later, Sims told newsmen he had been suspended. Cross verified the suspension by the executive board, which set March 27 as the date for Sims' trial in Miami Beach, Fla.

Seltzer Explains Newspaper's Drive Against Ban on Photos

CLEVELAND (AP) — Louis B Seltzer, editor of the Cleveland Press hit at an American Bar Assn ban on courtroom photographs, declaring Friday night that "The Press seeks honorable means to overcome this defect in the people's right to know."

Seltzer, interviewed on the Ed Murrow radio broadcast, discussed a test case in which the Press will be involved when Common Pleas Judge Samuel H. Silbert files a contempt of court citation.

The judge indicated he will wait for a committee of lawyers representing the Cleveland and Cuyahoga Bar associations to report before citing the Press for publishing pictures taken in his court this week without his knowledge.

Seltzer quoted the judge as saying the dignity of his courtroom had not been affected. Judge Silbert has declined to give a personal opinion of the bar association ban—Canon 35 of the ABA—saying only that he is required to enforce the canon as adopted in Ohio.

The Press editor told the radio audience that in today's "visual" world, the photograph is as important as the written word.

Meanwhile, support for the Press position came from the New York State Society of Newspaper Editors. The president of the society, Charles A. King III, said in Utica, N.Y., the canon is "an archaic and unrealistic device held out as a bulwark of orderly court procedure."

King said in a telegram to Seltzer the New York society "supports you wholeheartedly in your courageous fight in behalf of the people's right to know."

King added, "Your test and many experiments have proved Canon 35 to be nothing more than a symbol of the unwillingness of stubborn courts to recognize that photography no longer is in the stone age."

Robert McFerrin, Met Baritone, To Sing on Tuesday

Robert McFerrin, leading baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Association, will be heard in the closing concert of the Marion Concert Association Tuesday night in the Harding High School Auditorium.

Almost unknown to the general public two years ago, McFerrin today is hailed by many critics as one of the greatest American voices of the time. He made his Metropolitan debut in January, 1955, as "Amonasro" in Verdi's "Aida," and later sang the title role in another Verdi opera, "Rigoletto" and "Valentin" in Gounod's "Faust," during the Metropolitan's 1955-56 season.

After winning many scholarships and contests, he was proclaimed a winner of the Metropolitan Auditions of the Air in the spring of 1953 which won him a scholarship at the Kathryn Turney Long Opera Courses, six weeks of training usually reserved for Metropolitan singers under contract. He made American musical history by becoming the first Negro singer to be trained at the Metropolitan.

A native of Marianna, Ark., he is one of the eight children of a Baptist minister. With his family he moved to St. Louis in 1936 where his father, the late Rev. Melvin McFerrin, became pastor of the Kingshighway Baptist Church.

He entered the Army in 1942, serving with an engineer outfit in England and later in a special services section of the Air Force in Manila and Japan. He appeared on Broadway in the revival of "The Green Pastures" and was in Kurt Weill's "Lost in the Stars." He spent a year in concert work and appeared in various operatic roles in Washington with the National Opera Company.

Mortician Has Interest In Atomic Preservative

Reds Called Racketeers

DALLAS (AP)—Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison told a Kiwanis group that the Communists "are nothing more than racketeers and criminals, and the same goes for General Nasser of Egypt." Harrison, who negotiated the armistice in the Korean War, is executive director of the Evangelical Welfare Agency of Chicago, which sponsors placement of orphans in Christian homes.

4,465 Fans Watch Shelby, Mansfield Move Into District's Title Attraction

Siegfried Scores 43; Tiffin, Sandusky Squads Ousted

By JOHN SHORT

Mansfield's rapidly - improving Tygers will battle Shelby tonight on the Coliseum floor for the district title and after last night's semifinal action they are rated no worse than an even bet to burst the Shelby bubble.

Coach Vern Hoffman's rugged quintet ended the classy Tiffin Columbian squad's record at 17 wins and a pair of setbacks with a 61-58 verdict in the Friday night opener while Larry Siegfried, Shelby's All-Ohio star, almost singlehandedly whipped Sandusky 59-50 before a record crowd of 4,465 fans.

—:—

SIEGFRIED PUMPED in 43 points, just one shy of the floor record set by St. Mary's Dick Gunde in 1952. His scoring came on 12 field goals and 19 of 21 attempts from the foul line. He missed his first free throw after popping in 16 straight to go with his 18 in last week's Coliseum contest.

He was the only weapon exhibited by the Shelby squad and proved effective enough against the Blue Streaks. Against the tall and talented Tygers, however, he may be slightly less effective.

Coach Jack Freitas, making his last appearance at the Sandusky helm, saw his charges record an 18-16 edge in field goals but drop the verdict at the foul line. The Whippets, paced by the deadeye Siegfried, scored on 27 of 38 attempts. The Streaks shot only 20 attempts, canning 14.

With Siegfried scoring 12 points, Shelby forged into a 17-6 first period lead and by the half had built up a 28-18 margin. The winners carried a 40-38 bulge into the final period. The Whippet scoring ace added 10 points in the second, six in the third and finished with 15 in the fourth. He played only 19 seconds during the closing two minutes. His time on the bench undoubtedly robbed him of a new floor record.

Dave Jones was the big gun in the Sandusky attack, finishing with 14 markers.

MANSFIELD NAILED down its verdict against Tiffin by pulling away in the first half and then thwarting the Columbian comeback efforts.

The Tygers took an 18-12 edge in the first period and stretched it to 39-26 at the half. The Tiffin crew, carrying a 17-1 mark into the fray, pumped in 20 points during the third quarter to cut its deficit to 51-46 at the start of the final eight minutes.

The losers crept to within three points at 57-54 and 59-56 but just couldn't get over the hump.

Defensive rebounding by Dave Bourns and Kent Phillips was the biggest factor in the Tygers' verdict. Those two, 6-3 and 6-5 respectively, held absolute control of the Tiffin boards and limited the foe to one shot on nearly every attempt.

Phillips finished as the big point maker for the winners with 21 while Bourns collected 14 and Jerry Hallabrin netted 10. Russ Work pumped in 18 to lead the losers with Bill Stauffer and John Blume each collecting 16.

Tonight's title game is scheduled for 8 p.m. Coliseum doors will open at 7 p.m. The winner of the district crown here will qualify for play in the Toledo regional next week at the University of Toledo Fieldhouse.

Membership of the group in 1956 was 401. It has released 27 dozen Wyoming rabbits in the county for propagation this spring, and voted Friday night to release more next year. Game was plentiful for the past hunting season, Stall reported.

The organiation voted to build two one-acre pheasant rearing pens in the county in conjunction with the new program which the state adopted during the past year.

Detroit Pilot Seeking Winning Habits Early

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) —Manager Jack Tighe says Detroit will be out for as many victories as possible in the Grapefruit League schedule.

"The quicker we develop a winning habit, the better off all of us will be," Tighe said.

Tebbetts Sees Training Games as Conditioners

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Manager Birdie Tebbetts doesn't want to win the Grapefruit League championship with his Cincinnati Redlegs. He only wants to whip his men into top shape.

"What's more important is that the veteran players get into the best condition and the kids get a fair shot at the jobs," he said.

Second Round Tilts Slated In Junior High Cage Play

Caledonia, Morral, Pleasant and Prospect emerged victorious from first round games in the Marion County Junior High School basketball tournament Friday night in the Morral gymnasium.

The Caledonia five turned back Claridon, 58-31; Morral rolled over New Bloomington by a 71-8 margin; Pleasant cruised past LaRue's quintet, 32-19, and Prospect blasted Meeker from contention, 53-13.

Second round play in the single elimination tourney gets under way at 6 tonight, with Caledonia facing Martel. Morral takes on Green Camp at 7 p.m.; Pleasant locks horns with Grand Prairie at 8, and Prospect takes on the Waldo five in the nightcap.

A CROWD OF about 300 persons filled the Morral gymnasium Friday to watch the quartet of junior high games. There were no close battles, but the fans got their money's worth nevertheless.

In the opener, Caledonia raced away to a 14-4 first-quarter lead, had widened the margin to 28-12 at the half and was in front by a 41-21 count after three quarters of action. Claridon outhit the Donians, 10-6 from the foul line, but the victors' 26-11 edge in goal completions was too much to overcome.

Caledonia was paced by Detwiler's 24-point effort, while Ray added 12. Crum was high for Claridon with 14 points.

Morral's cagers humiliated the New Bloomington five, 71-8, as it buried the hapless losers under a scoring barrage that totaled 28 goals and 15 free throws. New Bloomington, never in the game, managed but a pair of field completions and four tallies from the charity circle. Morral was ahead 21-0 at the quarter, 34-1 at the half and 50-2 as the finale got under way.

Moore was tops for Morral with 17 points, while Freeman and Tong both got 10. Armstrong's five was high for New Bloomington.

PLEASANT AND LaRue furnished the night's only real competition before the Panda juniors were easily victorious by a 32-19 score. Pleasant rolled away to an early 10-4 lead, then had to hustle in the third period after LaRue managed to climb to within three points of a tie at 14-11 at intermission. The count was 24-14 in Pleasant's favor after three quarters of action.

The victors banged in 13 goals and six charity shots, compared to eight tallies from the field and three from the foul line for LaRue. Rice paced his Pleasant mates with 10 points, while Miller was high for the losers with seven.

Prospect had little trouble racking up a 53-18 victory over Meeker's cagers. The victors took a 19-4 first period lead, were ahead by a 40-7 margin at the half and had climbed to a 49-12 advantage as the finale hove into sight.

The Bulldogs rolled in 23 goals and seven free throws, compared to six goals and six free throws. Pacing the Prospect attack was Baumgartner with 12 points. R. Halley with 10. P. Brown and Patton combined terms to hit for six points apiece for Meeker.

The winners of tonight's Caledonia - Martel and Morral - Green Camp games will meet Friday, March 15, at 7:30 p.m. in a semifinal contest. The winners of the Pleasant - Grand Prairie and Prospect-Waldo battles will take the floor at 8:30. The consolation and championship games are set for 7:30 and 8:30 p.m. respectively March 16.

Court's Ruling Shocks Boxing Leaders of U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Boxing men the world over were buzzing today with speculation over "what happens next" in the case of the government versus the International Boxing Club. Nobody right now has any definite idea of what's going to happen.

Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan touched off the bombshell Friday by ruling the IBC was a monopoly and conspiracy in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act in the promotion of world championship fights. The ruling was only on title fights and not on the weekly non-title bouts promoted on Wednesday and Friday nights by the IBC in coast-to-coast radio and television programs.

Just how this alleged monopoly will be broken up remains to be seen. Judge Ryan directed both the government and the IBC to submit proposed decrees within 30 days. Hearings then will be held before a final court order is handed down.

There were indications that if James D. Norris, president of the IBC, and his associates named in the civil suit, thought a final ruling by Ryan was too severe they would appeal to the Court of Appeals and, if necessary, to the Supreme Court. This takes plenty of time.

Most observers felt the government might try to clip the IBC's empire this way: Force the IBC to relinquish some of the big arenas it controls: (Madison Square Garden in New York, Chicago Stadium, Detroit Olympia, etc); Nullify the club's exclusive contracts with champion fighters and make it give up either the Wednesday or Friday night network show.

Ryan, in his 59-page opinion, decided that the IBC of New York, the IBC of Illinois, Madison Square Garden Corp. Norris, who is president of all three, and Arthur M. Wirtz of Chicago, Norris' principal associate, were "a combination and conspiracy in unreasonable restraint of trade and commerce in the promotion of professional world championship boxing contests."

The IBC, on advice of counsel, confined its comment to one statement by Norris.

"The court's decision was, of course, a disappointment to me," he said. "All I can say at this time is I hope we will not be prevented from continuing to present Wednesday and Friday night fights which have proved such popular television and radio attractions."

Hunter Promised Chance by Brown

CLEVELAND (AP) — Coach Paul Brown said here Friday that Art Hunter, former Notre Dame football star, will get a chance to play with the Cleveland Browns despite a conviction on a petty theft charge.

Hunter was placed on three years' probation recently for stealing money from wallets in the Elks Club in Riverside, Calif., where he lives.

"The young fellow has made a mistake," Brown said. "I want to bring him back and give him a chance."

WIDOWS
If your spouse disappears into the workshop every night to build such things as Louis XIV barbecue tables, madam: you're a buzz-saw widow! Our advice: get that man into a new Hart Schaffner & Marx suit. It's not suitable for buzz-sawing, but it can't be beat for dinner and a show. And ol' Buzz-Saw will be so pleased with his well-dressed look, he might insist on doing the town.

Bob Scheffing To Experiment In Cubs' Tests

MESA, Ariz. (AP) —Bob Scheffing, making his debut as manager of the Chicago Cubs, will be experimenting all over the field today in an exhibition opener against Baltimore.

Only Gene Baker at second base and Walt Moryn in right field resemble any part of last year's lineup. Bob Rush will be the starting pitcher but he'll be relieved early by newcomers Elmer Singleton and Gene Fodge.

Shortstop Ernie Banks will continue to rest his sore arm and Jerry Kindall will fill in. Other starters are Gale Wade in center, Jim Bolger, left; Ray Jablonski, third base; Bob Speake, first base, and Ray Katt, catcher.

OSU's Swimmers Hold Third Place

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The hot intrastate rivalry between Michigan State and Michigan flares anew tonight with the Big Ten swimming title riding on the outcome — unless Ohio State can rally its faltering champions.

Michigan State, distributing its talent to score in seven of eight events Friday night, took the edge off two record-smashing Michigan performances to grab the lead with 50 points.

Michigan has 42 going into tonight's final seven events and Ohio State, winner of eight straight Big Ten titles, trails with 37. Only Indiana, with 25 points, is anywhere near the leaders.

Campanella Raps Old-Age Theories

MIAMI (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers too old?

Catcher Roy Campanella bristled today when the theory was put forth to him that the Brooks might be getting a little aged.

"Ha," snorted Campy. Sure, we're getting older, but so is our opposition. To have a good club you need men who can play more than 100 games a year. And we have them."

Regional Play To Offer New Cast This Year

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A flock of new faces will appear in Ohio's high school regional basketball tournaments next week.

With 15 Class AA and 13 Class A regional qualifiers to be named tonight, only nine of last year's 32 are still on deck.

Two unbeaten teams, both Class AA, were among the latest victims in the lose-and-out race to the state finals. Lakewood's 17-game winning streak was halted 63-62 by Elyria, which had been beaten five times. Jackson of Stark County stopped at 19 wins when defeated 71-60 by thrice-defeated Canton Lincoln.

Anthony Wayne and Tiffin Columbian, northwestern Ohio powers, were ushered to the sidelines in Class AA after piling up 17-1 records. Anthony Wayne lost 60-56 to Delphos St. John, while Tiffin Columbian was a 61-58 victim of the Mansfield Tygers, who have dropped 13 in 21 starts.

Both defending champions see action tonight. Middletown's six-time Class AA champions go against Dayton Roosevelt's 1934 champions in the district finals at Dayton. Class A king Arcanum plays Bradford at Springfield for a regional berth.

Lockland Wayne's two - time Class A champions won their way to the Troy regional Friday night with a rousing 56-29 win over Greenhills at Cincinnati. Nelsonville and Newark St. Francis reached the Athens regional, each with a one-point victory.

Nelsonville nosed out Buchtel 46-45 at Athens, and Newark St. Francis was a 66-65 victor over Pleasantville at Westerville.

Still left of last year's regional qualifiers in Class AA are Canton McKinley's always - threatening Bulldogs, Columbus North, Toledo Macomber, Middletown and Troy. In Class A the ones with a chance to repeat are Arcanum, Lockland Wayne, Willshire and New Boston.

Of the nine, Canton McKinley, Columbus North and Middletown reached the state tourney in Class AA, and Arcanum and Willshire made it in the smaller school division.

With the Class A field of 696 whittled to 29, and the 349 Class AA schools shaved to 31, the final Class AA Associated Press poll is holding up well. Of the top 10 in the final ratings seven are still firing, and two of the other three—Lakewood and Tiffin Columbian—went out Friday night.

Harding Cage Banquet Slated On March 26

The annual Harding High School basketball banquet will be held Tuesday, March 26 at 6:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. Date of the annual event was announced today by Elmer Smith, president of the Harding Booster Club.

Any person who purchased the Booster package deal prior to last football season and who didn't attend the football banquet may obtain his ticket to the dinner by contacting J. H. Smith at Harding High School, the club president said.

Plans are being studied to contact members of former Harding basketball squads in an effort to have them attend the event. The teams would be seated in groups and would be feted during the program.

James Creager was named head of an auditing committee and will be assisted by Harold Henry and F. Howard Lawson. A nominating committee was named with George Howser as chairman. The group includes Ray Silvers, Lou Ralston, Ralph Chamberlain, Robert Middleton and Mrs. Paul Lister. The Booster club election will be held April 2.

April 27 has been selected as the date for the annual spaghetti supper. Ted McArthur was named to head the committee in charge of that event and will be asisted by Ray Hinklin, Charles Morbitt and Mrs. Earnest Davis.

Wisconsin school officials found that children will drink more milk if it is made available more often. Lowering prices didn't seem to change the appetites of children for more or less milk.

Family Makes $192 Entirely Furnish Home

Handyman Renovates Used Articles, Keeps Cost at Lowest Level

PHOENIX, Ariz (AP) — "It's comfortable, it's ours and it only cost us about $190" Tom Kirley, a natural - born do it yourself fan, was talking about the furniture in his new home

Three months after Tom and June Kirley moved into their house in a subdivision on Phoenix' north west side, they had every room furnished with neat solid furniture They have their bills to prove they spent a total of $192 32

Had Some Items

The Kirleys are quick to qualify that sum Like most onetime apartment dwellers they had a bed, a few lamps and other odds and ends The house came equipped with a stove and refrigerator, and they owned a TV set and washing machine, and a $35 jigsaw

"And I want you to know" Kirley says pointedly, "Everything in this house is just what we wanted It's not makeshift"

The furnishings bear him out

Kirley is a sheet metal specialist at an aircraft research laboratory He tries to spend an hour or so each day working on something new for his home

The Kirleys picked up their tubular steel breakfast set for $4, and recovered it with three dollars worth of plastic fabric It looks as good as new

The Kirley's 4-year-old son Mike sleeps in an Army bunk bed that cost $8 The other half is out in the garage until Jo Anne the family's baby daughter, outgrows her crib

Kirley painted the bed white and burned in Western cattle brands A $9 chest of drawers is decorated to match, with black horseshoe handles made out of scrap plywood

$29 for Dining Room

The dining room table and chairs, which are made from solid oak were found in a secondhand store for $29 "You don't find them built like that anymore" he said 'I ll sand down the top and varnish it when I get time and we have some gold burlap remnants for the chairs'

Their most expensive purchase was a sofa and chair for $60

"We looked for a long time and it was just what we wanted,' Mrs Kirley said

The Kirleys estimate they spent from 10 to 12 weekends hunting in second hand and bargain stores until they found all the furniture they needed to move in Here is their budget

Breakfast set	$7 00
Dining room set (table, 4 chairs)	29 00

Tranquil Colors Help Peace of Mind

Research Finds Shades Which Can Aid Rest And Relaxation

By VIVIAN BROWN
Associated Press Staff Writer

There are women who should see a psychiatrist before decorating their homes

Many a man has come home from a hard day at the office to find that his wife has painted the living room or study (where he'd planned to relax) a vivid orange or other stampeding color, hardly conducive to his nerves

HOMEMAKERS should take a leaf from medical researchers and other experts who planned a 'peace of mind" room for tranquil living coordinating all ingredients of the room — color, fabric, furniture lighting and artwork — into a peace theme designed to soothe harried emotions

The room stressed warm, soft pastels such as dusty rose or pale yellow to provide cheerfulness, light and an airy feeling Warm colors the experts suggest, should border on cool colors such as soft blue green or gray Two cool colors or two violently warm colors are likely to irritate you

Red stimulates and speeds the reactions and may make you nervous they say Blue seems to quiet the nerves but leads to a depressed feeling after a time

DESIGNERS who studied the fabric problem in relation to tranquility reported that novelty or nubby fabrics and highly contrasting textures may be distracting and unnerving

Soft light should be used they say Too bright light is likely to dull appreciation of objects and persons

The body should be rested before the mind can be put at ease the designers point out, so it is important to choose comfortable furniture for your restful room A soft, high back chair with an ottoman one that fits the man in size and pleases him in style is essential to comfort

TRANQUIL ROOM Designed for peace of mind, this room is uncluttered, restful and soft in color

On the House

Tips on Variety of Minor Repair Tasks Are Given

By ANDREW C. LANG
Associated Press Staff Writer

Here are some tips that may help you in those repair jobs that crop up around the house.

When a window sticks because of hardened paint between the sash and the frame (the most common cause), it can be loosened much easier from the outside than the inside.

To replace a broken window pane, the dimensions given to the dealer should be ⅛ inch less than the width of the sash opening and ⅛ inch less than the length, a necessary allowance for possible contraction of the wooden frame.

In painting screening, keep a toothpick handy to unclog any holes while the paint is still wet.

While putting down a new threshold, stagger the nails on either side of the center section of the threshold.

Patching Roof

When a wooden roof shingle is cracked, it can be kept from leaking by driving a piece of copper, under the damaged shingle and another piece under the shingle directly above it.

When painting a wall, start at the top and work downward, but when washing a wall, start at the bottom and work upward.

For painting a ceiling while standing on a scaffold (or plank set between two stepladders), always keep the paint container in back of you so you won't knock it over as you move forward.

When using a plunger, or "plumber's friend," to unclog a sink drain, there must be enough water in the sink to cover the bottom part of the suction cup and form a complete seal.

If rain water is overflowing from a roof gutter at a point where there is no debris, the chances are that a readjustment of one of the gutter brackets will correct the condition.

Select Correct Type

When buying paint remover, get the semi-paste type for outdoor surfaces and for indoor upright surfaces; get the liquid type for flat surfaces and other indoor jobs where the remover will not run.

If a drawer is inclined to stick, prevent it from becoming completely useless by rubbing the sliding parts with paraffin or one of the special preparations made for this purpose.

For breaking a flagstone with a cold chisel and a hammer, always work from the center of the stone toward the edges.

When replacing an old brick with a new one soak the new brick thoroughly in a pail of water before putting it in the opening which should also be drenched with water.

When applying patching plaster to a damaged area, fill the gap to about ⅛ inch from the surrounding surface, wait an hour, then add more of the patching material until it is flush with the surface.

About Sanding

To use a drum sander in refinishing a floor, always keep the machine in motion while the drum is in contact with the wood.

When calking large gaps around a window frame, pack coarse hemp or oakum or aluminum foil into the openings before applying the calking compound.

If a paint job develops a wrinkly appearance within a few days after the paint was applied, it's likely that too heavy a coat was put on.

Shrubbery Should Be Part of House

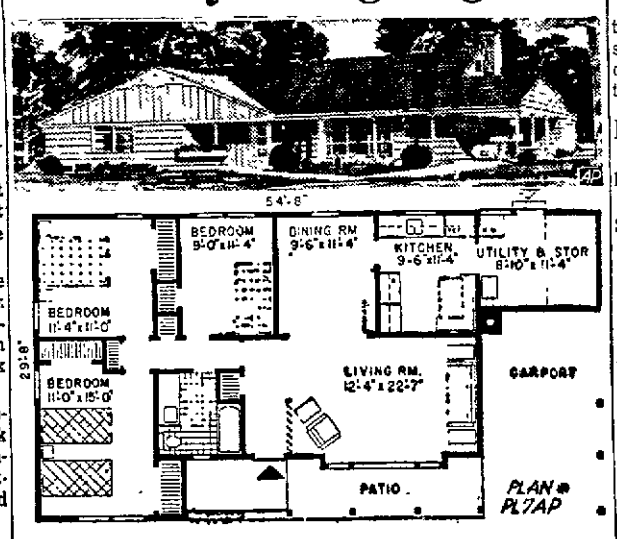
Give your home a more attractive, all-season foundation planting, beginning this spring. Take an objective look at your flowers and shrubs. Make them an integral part of your house.

One of the best schemes for planting the front of a house is to develop strong corner plantings that will look good at least three seasons. Then, supplement with a special accent by the front door, says Better Homes & Gardens magazine in the March issue.

The planting for the side of a house should be more simple in outline than planting in front. It need not be continuous; the foundation can show without impairing the design.

High foundations allow use of much more vigorous shrubs and trees, since they won't soon outgrow space. South exposures call for hardy shrubs, and let you grow good roses and perennials, according to the publication.

Economy Is Highlighted



PLANNED FOR ECONOMY, this ranch house of 1,287 square feet has many features of a more expensive residence—the decorative partition between the entrance and living room, bay window, utility room for laundry and furnace and two large closets in the master bedroom. It is plan PL7AP, by Samuel Paul, 89-51 164th St., Jamaica, 3, N.Y.

Using a Belt Sander

Tips on Home Repairs

By ANDREW C. LANG
Associated Press Staff Writer

DO . . . use a portable belt sander for heavy duty work, especially on large, flat surfaces.

DO . . . allow the belt to gain momentum, lower the machine slowly so that the back part of the belt touches first, then quickly bring it to a horizontal position as you move it forward.

DO . . . guide the sander back and forth in a sort of stroking motion, applying very little pressure.

DO . . . when you decide to stop for any reason, lift the sander from the wood to prevent taking off an excessive amount in one spot.

—:—

DON'T . . . push the machine too far over the edges of the surface being sanded, as this will cause the machine to tilt and produce rounded edges.

DON'T . . . forget to check the alignment of the belt every so often to be sure the abrasive is not rubbing against the frame; every belt sander has a screw arrangement to keep the belt running in a straight line.

DON'T . . . turn on the switch while the sander is on the work surface, otherwise it may "run" off onto the floor.

DON'T . . . use a belt sander on thin veneers, as it is a power-plus machine that might cut through the surface before you realize it.

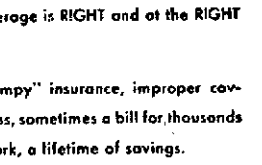
KNOW HIM BY HIS LABEL . . .



PROFESSIONAL MAN!

You choose your doctor for his medical skill . . . your lawyer for his legal knowledge. Choose your insurance agent on the same basis.

No doctor could sway you with "cut prices" . . . no attorney with a story of a legal defense at a discount. Be wary, then, of insurance that is "cheaper".

Your insurance agent is a professional man who spends his life in the study of one of today's most complex business sciences. His is the knowledge, the know-how that means your insurance coverage is RIGHT and at the RIGHT PRICE.

You foot the bill for "skimpy" insurance, improper coverage, when you suffer a loss, sometimes a bill for thousands that wipes out years of work, a lifetime of savings.

BE SURE. A regular service of this organization, without obligation to our clients, is the analysis of your insurance position. After such analysis, you'll know FOR SURE before it's too late!

Chemical Facts of Life Used in Gardening Talk

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N Y. — Much of the fun of gardening lies in talking to other gardeners But gardeners, like every other group have a language all their own, which unfortunately is likely to silence a beginner whose enthusiasm has confined him too much to the hoe and too little to the garden books

It is unthinkable that there should be a second-year gardener who doesn't know his potash from his pH value, and as a matter of fact, a nodding acquaintance with both is right handy in both gardening and reading about gardens

For conversation purposes, there are two basic chemical facts of life to learn The first is one which is concerned with the amounts of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash in fertilizers This is invariably set down in a formula such as 5-10-5 And if you have trouble remembering which figure stands for what the trick is that they are listed alphabetically

Sweet and Sour

Now then, about this much discussed pH scale Nowadays it isn't enough to decide that your garden has "sweet" soil or "sour" soil The horticultural experts have learned, for instance, that beets and parsnips have decidedly different soil preferences Beets —and forget-me nots and English ivy—enjoy a neutral soil, if anything slightly on the "sweet" side Parsnips—and potatoes and heather—like it strongly on the "sour" side In the lexicon of gardening, sweet means alkaline while sour means acid

The pH scale (pH is the universal symbol indicating hydrogen ion concentration — and for goodness sake don't get into that unless you want to show off at a cocktail party) runs between zero and 14

The zero stands for absolute acidity, 14 for absolute alkalinity, seven for neutral soil The problem is to remember which way the scale runs Most plants flourish in soils testing between 6½ and 7½ on the pH scale—around neutral Some, like evergreens and shade-growng wild-flowers, like strongly acid soil—as low as 4½

Actually, it's a good idea to have some idea of your soil's pH If you find it too acid for the liking of your plants, it may be sweetened with ground limestone If you have sweet soil where you want to plant rhododendrons aluminum sulphate may be worked into the soil To find out the condition, you may have soil samples tested by your county farm agent

Better still and fun is to acquire a small and comparatively inexpensive soil testing kit and do the job yourself It also tells you the nitrogen, phosphorus and potash content of soil (Find out where to get refills of testing liquids, you'll want to run tests for your neighbors, too).

Gardeners in the northern two-thirds of the country should check stored bulbs for signs of dryness and disease order fertilizers for spring lawn and garden feeding get the garden tools in working shape continue feeding the birds sow window sill pans with seeds which take longest to reach seedling size

Southern gardeners should set out dahlia tubers and seedlings, staking them at the same time turn over the compost pile to speed bacterial action take evergreen cuttings to root in moist sand in a shady spot prune and feed camellias and azaleas after blooming

YOUR HOME . . . Today and Tomorrow

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Getting rid of the odor of fresh paint is not as a rule much of a problem in a house but can be a severe problem in an apartment It has been known to cause headache if not actual sickness when paint fumes are inhaled for many hours

There is always more or less of a draft through any apartment, even though it may not be noticeable and as a rule this draft will be out of the apartment and into the hallway or entrance

All windows should be opened from both top and bottom to induce circulation in the rooms and the door to the general hall should be opened Usually there will be a slight if not noticeable trend of air movement toward the door In some instances there will be a draft in from the hall-in which case the effect is just as beneficial as the fumes will drift out of the far windows

In some cases the use of an electric fan helps dispense with the paint odor and where one is fortunate enough to have a ventilating fan in the kitchen, all odors are rapidly dissipated

Because of the fact that paint gives off most of the odor while in the process of setting and drying it is an excellent idea to start painting operations as early in the day as possible, thus assuring at least a minimum of annoyance

There are odorless paints on the market and it might be well to investigate the merits of them Probably the best advice regarding them could be furnished by a reputable paint dealer

First Aid for Ailing House

By ROGER C WHITMAN

Q The walls of our cabin are solid logs measuring 10 to 12 inches in diameter The bark on on the inside walls was peeled off some time ago, but not on the exterior We started to peel off the bark and discovered that some of the logs are beginning to rot in spots near the caulking In some instances, sizeable chunks of the cement caulking have come off What do you suggest we do about filling the holes made by the rot and the displaced cement?

A You will have to scrape off the rotted substance down to sound wood then coat the wood with a chemical preservative All holes cracks and crevices should be filled with a caulking compound applied with a caulking gun

Q How can I get some literature on the care and operation of a household coal stoker?

A: Such literature can be obtained only from the maker of the particular machine you have in your house There should be a nameplate on the machine giving the manufacturer and address also the machine s model number or name The latter should be furnished with your request so that proper literature will be sent

Q I have a cold air intake in the dining room of my apartment It is 36 inches long and one foot high The upper flat is heated by the same furnace My phone is near this cold air return, and my tenant on the upper floor hears every word when I talk on the phone What can I put over this air intake so the sound will not go up?

A: A board or a piece of insulating wallboard placed snugly against the register of the return should do the job Of course it must be removed when the phone conversation is finished Your phone company could equip your instrument with a mouthpiece that will hush the voice to that it could barely be heard in the room Another solution is to move the phone to another room

Q: My house is three years old and has two concrete porches We put three coats of paint on the floor but it only stays on a couple of weeks before starting to peel off, and it looks terrible Can you recommend anything?

A: Rubber base floor paints are usually most satisfactory for concrete floors in contact with the ground Before using the new paint remove the present coatings with a floor sanding machine using coarse sandpaper If a considerable amount of ground moisture gets into the concrete slab it may not be possible to keep any paint on the ground A one inch topping of colored concrete would be best in this case and only a limeproof color should be used for such work

THE HEART OF JULIET JONES By Stan Drake

TAKE THE REST OF THE DAY OFF, DEAR. GOING BACK TO WORK WOULD SEEM AWFULLY ANTI-CLIMACTIC AFTER THAT EXPLOSIVE LITTLE CHAT.
GRADY'S PICKING ME UP TONIGHT. I—I'LL TELL YOU ALL ABOUT IT IN THE MORNING.
YES. AND, EVE—
TAKE IT EASY. BIG AS HE IS, HE BRUISES EASILY!
I'LL BE CAREFUL—I PROMISE!

OKAY, BUT BEFORE YOU PUT THAT BACK IN THE STEW, COULD I LICK IT?

So this is a two-dollar bill! The first I've ever seen, Daddy.
They're not common. People are superstitious about them.
Sometimes they tear off a corner to take away the hex.
And this money is so big!
About 28 years ago the government reduced the size of bills. These are old ones.
So that is what the dollar looked like before it shrunk!

MPS Welcomes Sixty New Members To Company Twenty-Five Year Club

Marion Power Shovel Company takes pride in welcoming 60 employees to the MPS 25 Year Club. These new members have worked a grand total of 1873 years with the company and its predecessors.

Fifty-four of them started their shovel-building careers at least a quarter century ago with the former Osgood, General or Commercial Steel Casting companies.

Since the 25 Year Club was organized 12 years ago, 461 "senior employees" of the company have been enrolled in the organization. The active membership now totals 330, more than one of every ten people on the payroll.

A company can be no stronger than the men and women who contribute their skill, knowledge and loyalty to it during their working hours. We are fortunate to be able to draw on the wide and valuable experience all members of the 25 Year Club have acquired over the years. They are responsible for much of the company's success in the past and will continue to play an important role in our future growth and progress.

Formal welcome of the new quarter century members will be at a dinner tonight at Harding High School.
